

A P O C A L Y P S E N O W

Original screenplay by John Milius.

Inspired by Joseph Conrad's "HEART OF DARKNESS".

This draft by Francis Ford Coppola.

December 3, 1975.

This is an early version of the screenplay. It's quite different from the final version but very interesting anyway. It includes f ex The French plantation scene, which was actually filmed, but later cut from the movie.

1 PRIMEVAL SWAMP - EARLY DAWN

It is very early in the dawn - blue light filters through the jungle and across a foul swamp. A mist clings to the trees. This could be the jungle of a million years ago.

Our VIEW MOVES CLOSER, through the mist, TILTING DOWN to the tepid water. A small bubble rises to the surface; then another. Suddenly, but quietly, a form begins to emerge; a helmet. Water and mud pour off revealing a set of beady eyes just above the mud. Printed on a helmet, in a psychedelic hand, are the words: "Gook Killer." The head emerges revealing that the tough-looking soldier beneath has exceptionally long hair and beard; he has no shirt on, only bandoliers of ammunition - his body is painted in an odd camouflage pattern. He looks to the right; he looks to the left; he looks INTO CAMERA, and slowly sinks back into the swamp, disappearing completely.

Our VIEW HOLDS, We begin to HEAR natural, though unrecognizable JUNGLE SOUNDS, far off in the distance. We PAN TO REVEAL a clump of logs half submerged in the swamp; and part of what seems to be a Falstaff beer can in the mud. A hand reaches out, and the beer can disappears. As we TILT UP, we NOTICE that the log is hollow and houses the rear of a M-60 machine gun, hand painted in a paisley design.

Now the VIEW MOVES AWAY, ACROSS the ancient growth, PAST the glimmer of what seems to be another soldier hiding in ambush, wearing an exotic hat made from birds and bushes. ACROSS to a dark trail where the legs of those in black pajamas move silently across our ever TIGHTENING VIEW. Their feet, boots and sandals leave no impression; make no sound. A slight flicker of light reveals a pair of eyes in the foliage across the path, waiting and watching.

The VIEW PUSHES ALONG WITH the Vietnamese, MOVING FASTER AND FASTER WITH them, until suddenly, directly in front about ten feet away, an enormous AMERICAN clad in rags and bushes and holding a 12 gauge automatic shotgun casually at his side, steps in front of them. He smiles laconically, and BLASTS OUT FIVE SHOTS that rip THROUGH US. By the second shot, the whole jungle blazes out with AUTOMATIC FIRE.

Out VIEW TURNS as the men around us are thrown and torn, screaming and scattering into the jungle. More AMERICANS appear; unexplainably, out of the growth. It is now that we fully SEE the bizarre manner in which they are dressed. Some wear helmets, others wear strange hats made from feathers and parts of animals. Some of them have long savage-looking hair; other crew-cut or completely shaved; they wear bandoliers, flak jackets, shorts and little else. They wear Montagnard sandals or no shoes at all, and their bodies and faces are painted in bizarre camouflage patterns. They appear one with the jungle and mist, FIRING INTO US as they move.

The soldier we saw earlier emerges from the swamp, dripping mud, his MACHINE GUN BLASTING FIRE.

We begin to move quickly with one Vietnamese, breathlessly running for his life; we MOVE INTO the jungle with him, only to be impaled on a large spear of a smiling AMERICAN painted and wearing feathers like an Indian. OUR VIEW FALLS WITH him to the ground, STARING UPWARDS, as FLAME and EXPLODING MUD scatter above us. Men scream and die around us. The screams amid the GUNFIRE and EXPLOSIONS are piercing and terrible, as though the jungle itself is frightened.

An AMERICAN wearing a jungle hat with a large Peace Sign on it, wearing war paint, bends TOWARD US, reaching down TOWARD US with a large knife, preparing to scalp the dead.

OUR VIEW MOVES AWAY, along with the running sandals of a Vietnamese soldier, MOVING FASTER AND FASTER, only to be stopped by still another of the savage-looking AMERICANS with primitive ornamentation, wearing only a loin-cloth and green beret. He opens his flame-thrower directly ON US and the NVA soldier and we are incinerated in flame, bright psychedelic orange-red flame. Outrageous, loud, electric ROCK MUSIC OVERWHELMS the SOUNDTRACK :

MAIN TITLE : APOCALYPSE NOW

2 TITLE SEQUENCE

The CREDIT TITLES proceed as the FLAME CONSUME US, growing more intense, brighter, more vivid, purifying; transforming into an intense white heat that we can barely look at, like the sun itself.

Then it EXPLODES, breking apart, and shattering once again. It begins to cool, as the TITLES CONTINUE. It is as though WE ARE MOVING through the white center of cooling flame, forming a spinning web, and becoming more distant. The TITLES CONTINUE.

We are MOVING TOWARD planetary nebulae; MOVING through the stars; MOVING closer to the Earth. We can BARELY HEAR the MUSIC now.

We MOVE CLOSER to the earth; beautiful, covered in clouds, as though SEEN from a satellite. The TITLES CONTINUE.

We are MOVING CLOSER to the earth; through the soft clouds, close enough that we can MAKE OUT the Western Hemisphere; CLOSER to North America; CLOSER, to America, then California; Los Angeles, STILL CLOSER to the odd, finger-like shapes of :

3 EXT. MARINA DEL REY

The VIEW finally SETTLES ON a partically luxury cabin cruiser harbored at a particular dock late in the day.

It is large, pleasure boat: The people are relaxing in bathing suits and towels and robes. They are drinking cocktails, and snapping pictures. The boat belongs to the head of a large American Corporation, and this is his party. This man, CHARLIE, is sitting, his shirt off to catch some of the late sun. Others have their faces smeared with white suntan oil that reminds us of war paint. Charlie is going on and on :

CHARLIE

... It's crazy -- sugar is up to 200 dollars a ton -- sugar !

LAWYER

What about oil ?

CHARLIE

Food, oil --look, let me show you something. This is the economy of the United States in two years --

He takes a newspaper, draws a circle.

CHARLIE

(continuing)

This is West Germany.
(he draws another, bigger circle)

This is Japan.
(another , bigger)

This is Italy.
(a dot)

This is Iran.
(a very big circle)

And this is Saudi Arabia... In two years ?

(a gigantic circle)
Do you understand ?

ACCOUNTANT

What's to prevent it ?

CHARLIE

Maybe nothing. But I'll tell you,
I didn't build a two-billion-dollar company in the last twenty years by doing nothing. We can protect our interests.

(pause, for a drink)

We are still the most powerful nation in the world. Militarily.

He leans to his associates, in a half-whisper.

CHARLIE

(continuing)

You know bodyguard; he was a captain in Viet Nam. You talk to him, except he won't talk. This kind of man can kill you with his pinky. A nice quiet fella, though.

The VIEW BEGINS TO PULL AWAY from this group.

CHARLIE

(continuing)

Carries a attache case at all times. You know what's in it ?

(another sip)

An Ingram Machine pistol.

Gradually, Charlie's voice softens as we MOVE AWAY, and a NEW VOICE, the voice of someone thinking, COMES IN OVER it :

CHARLIE

I don't tahe chances, and neither should this country. If we're strong, we should protect our interests, and we should have the respect of the world, even if it takes another war.

WILLARD (V.O.)

Bullshit. You can kill with the ridge of your hand to the throat; you can crush a skull with your knee... but you can't kill anybody with your pinky.

The VIEW MOVE ALONG the guests of this small party : Pictures being taken, some people are swimming. It is the good life. Now WILLARD'S VOICE TRACK DOMINATES.

WILLARD (V.O.)

The attache case has been empty for three years, but it makes him safe to think there's a machine pistol in it.

I don't like automatic weapons. They jam.

I saw a friend of mine get ripped open because he flicked his M-16 to automatic, and it jammed. How much money did the contractors make on the M-16 ?

Our VIEW IS MOVING through the people on the boat; some reading, flirting, drinking.

WILLARD (V.O.)

(continuing)

He likes to hear stories about Nam. I tell him I can't; they're not cleared. The truth is he wouldn't understand.

We can now SEE A MAN with his BACK TO US, looking the opposite way. An attache case resting near to him. We MOVE CLOSER.

WILLARD (V.O.)
(continuing) There's no way I can tell them... what really happened over there.

I wouldn't've believed it if someone'd told me.

We are now RESTING on his back. Occasionally, he sips from a beer, but we cannot see his face.

WILLARD (V.O.)
(continuing) There was only one part that mattered -- for me, anyway. I don't even know if I remember all of it. I can't remember how it ended, exactly -- because when it ended I was insane.

DISSOLVE TO :

4 EXT. A STREET IN SAIGON - DAY

A Saigon boom street in late 1968. There are bars and shops for servicemen; the rickshaws, the motorbikes.
Our VIEW MOVES TOWARD one particular officer; B.L.
WILLARD, in uniform, a Captain of the Airborne, followed by four or five Vietnamese kids trying to shine his shoes and sell him things.

WILLARD (V.O.)
But I know how it started for me -- I was on R. and R. in Saigon; my first time south of the DMZ in three months. I wasn't sure, but I thought this guy was following me.

Willard looks back.

5 HIS VIEW

an American CIVILIAN.

6 MED. VIEW

Willard ducks into a bar.

7 INT. THE SAIGON BAR - DAY

Not much in this place -- a bar, linoleum flooring, a few tables and chairs, and a juke box. The lounge is fairly crowded. Willard takes off his cap and walks quietly past the soldiers at the bar. Some of them, catching sight of his ribbons, stop talking as he moves by.

An INFANTRY CAPTAIN enters the bar, buys a couple of drinks and approaches Willard's table.

CAPTAIN
How about a drink ?

WILLARD
Sure, thanks.

He sits down at the table with the drinks.

CAPTAIN
Winning the war by yourself.

WILLARD
(he calls for the waiter) Part.

CAPTAIN
Which part is that ?

WILLARD
My part.
(TO THE WAITER)
Beer, with ice and water.

CAPTAIN
That's good gin.

WILLARD
I'm sure it is, but I had hepatitis.

CAPTAIN Delta ?

WILLARD No.

CAPTAIN
North ?

WILLARD
Yeah. Way north.

CAPTAIN
What unit were you with ?

WILLARD
None.

CAPTAIN
Rangers, eh?

WILLARD
Sort of.

The JUKE BOX starts BLARING. Annoyed , Willard looks over his shoulder.

CAPTAIN
Were you Longe Range Recon --

WILLARD
No -- I worked too far north for LRRP.

He reaches into his shirt pocket for a cigarette, and the Captain leans over the table to light it for him. Willard notices the CIVILIAN on the street has glanced in the bar, then enters and sits down at a table by the doorway.

CAPTAIN

That's quite an array of ribbons...

WILLARD

Let's talk about you.

CAPTAIN

I was an FO for the 25th.

WILLARD

Tracks ?

CAPTAIN

Yeah.

WILLARD

Fat. That's real fat.

CAPTAIN

Sometimes.

WILLARD

At least you always have enough water. How many gallons does each one of those damn things carry ?

CAPTAIN

Thirty -- sometimes fifty.

WILLARD

You know, I can remember once, getting back below the DMZ -- and the first Americans we ran into were a track squadron. I just couldn't believe how much water they had. We'd been chewing bamboo shoots for almost a week, and before that, for two weeks, we'd been drinking anything -- rain water, river shit, stuff right out of the paddies. And there were these guys standing by their trucks spilling water all over. I could've killed them.

(solemnly)

I swear to God I would have, too, if ...

CAPTAIN

I didn't know we had units up there in North Vietnam.

WILLARD

We do.

CAPTAIN

How long were you up there ?

WILLARD
A long time.

CAPTAIN
A year ? Waiter another beer.

WILLARD
I go up on missions. Listen Captain, buy me all the beer you want, but you better tell that asshole over there you're not going to find out anymore about me.

Willard glances over his shoulder and indicates the Civilian. The Civilian is given a sign by the Captain.
He rises and comes over to the bar.

WILLARD
(continuing)
What do you want ?

CIVILIAN
(indicating the Army jeep)
If you're B.L. Willard, 4th Recon Group, we'd like you to come with us.

WILLARD
Whose orders ?

CAPTAIN
Headquarters 11 Corps -- 405th
A.S.A Battalion -- S-2 -- Com-Sec -- Intelligence -- Nha Trang.

WILLARD
Who are you ?

CIVILIAN
The agency.

Willard looks at the Civilian a moment, and then walks roght out toward the jeep without saying another word.
The Civilian follows.

8 EXT. HELICOPTER - DUSK

A darkly painted "HUEY" ROARS over low paddies and jungle before emerging onto an open plain. It crosses a barbed wire and sand-bagged perimeter and lands in a heavily fortified, concealed compound.

WILLARD (V.O.)
They took me to some place outside Nha Trang... Intelligence Headquarters for all operations in South East Asia.
I'd worked for Intelligence before -- Armed men jump from the Huey -- among them Willard. A large camouflaged cover is moved, revealing an underground corridor -- they enter.

9 FULL SHOT - UNDERGROUND PLOTTING ROOM

A door swings wide -- Willard steps through and comes to attention, blocking the view of the room. A strange reddish light pervades. The room is covered with plastic maps and filled with smoke.

The whole place has been hewn out of the ground itself and there is a sense of the cut-back jungle growth slowly reclaiming it.

WILLARD

Captain B.L. Willard, G-4 Headquarters, reporting as ordered, sir.

COLONEL (O.S.)

Okay, Willard, sit down.

Willard sits in a chair that is set in a center of a bare concrete floor. Across from him, around steel desks and tables sit several men. The nearest one, a COLONEL puts his cigar out on the bottom of his shoe -- behind him sits a MAJOR and a seedy-looking CIVILIAN.

COLONEL

Have you ever seen this officer before, Captain Willard ?

He points to the Major.

WILLARD

No, sir.

COLONEL

This gentleman or myself ?

WILLARD

No, sir.

COLONEL

I believe on your last job you executed a tax collector in Kontum, is that right ?

WILLARD

I am not presently disposed to discuss that, sir.

MAJOR

Very good.

He turns to the Colonel and nods his approval. The Colonel gets up and goes to a large plastic map.

COLONEL

You know much about about Special Forces; Green Berets, Captain ?

WILLARD

I've worked with them on occasions and I saw the movie , sir.

The officer smiles at this.

COLONEL

Then you can appreciate Command's concern over their -- shall we say 'erratic' methods of operation.

(pause)

I have never favored elite units, Captain, including your paratroopers or whatever. Just because a man jumps out of an airplane or wears a silly hat doesn't give him any privileges in my book -- not in this man's army.

MAJOR

We didn't need 'em in Korea -- no sir, give me an Ohio farm boy and an M-1 Garand, none of this fancy crap -- no sir.

CIVILIAN

(stopping him)

Major.

COLONEL

We have Special Forces A detachments all along the Cambodian border. Two here and another one here -- twelve or fourteen Americans -- pretty much on their own; they train and motivate Montagnard natives; pick their own operations. If they need something, they call for it, and get it within reason. What we're concerned with is here.

10 CLOSE VIEW - ON THE MAP

COLONEL

The A detachment at Nu Mung Ba. It was originally a larger base, built up along the river in an old Cambodian fortress.

The area has been relatively quiet for the past two years -- but --

COLONEL

... Captain, we know something's going on up there -- Major --

The Major looks at some papers in front of him.

MAJOR

Communications naturally dwindled with the lack of V.C. activity, this is routine, expected ... but six months ago communication virtually stopped.

COLONEL

About the same time -- large numbers of Montagnards of the M'Nong descent began leaving the area -- this in itself is not unusual since these people have fought with the Rhade Tribe that lived in the area for centuries. But what is unusual is that we began to find Rhade refugees too -- in the same sampans as the M'Nongs. These people aren't afraid of V.C. They've put up with war for twenty years -- but something is driving them out.

MAJOR

We communicate with the base infrequently. What they call for are air strikes, immediate -- always at night. And we don't know what or who the air strikes are called on.

WILLARD

Who ?

MAJOR

You see, no one has really gone into this area and come back alive.

WILLARD

Why me ?

MAJOR

Walter Kurtz, Lieutenant Colonel, Special Forces. We understand you knew him.

He puts Kurtz' dossier in Willard's hand.

WILLARD

Yeah.

COLONEL

He's commanding the detachment at Nu Mung Ba.

The Colonel gets up and walks over to a tape recorder, flicks it on. The recording is first STATIC -- the AIR CONTROLLER then asks for more information on target coordinates -- it all sounds very routine, military.
Then a frantic VOICE comes on, talking slurred, like someone dumb, except very fast.

VOICE (ON TAPE)

Up 2 -- 0 -- give it to me quick -- Mark flare -- affirmative damn -- Immediate receive -- hearing automatic weapons fire man ...

GUNFIRE is HEARD and a lower, slower VOICE in background.

SECOND VOICE

Blue Delta five
This Big Rhine -- three Need that ordinance immediately Goddamn give it to me immediate Christ -- Big Rhino -- Blue God -- Delta damn -- goddamn.

A heavy BURST of AUTOMATIC WEAPONS FIRE -- INSANE LAUGHTER
-- STATIC, and faintly, very faintly we HEAR HARD ROCK MUSIC -- more STATIC -- suddenly a low, clear VOICE peaceful and serene, almost tasting the words.

THIRD VOICE

This is Big Rhino six -- Blue Delta.

MAJOR

That's Colonel Kurtz.

KURTZ (V.O.)

I want that napalm dropped in the trees -- spread it among the branches.

We'll give you a flare -- an orange one -- bright orange.

(STATIC)

We'd also like some white phosphorous, Blue Delta. White phosphorous, give it to me.

STATIC interrupts -- the Major turns the machine off.

WILLARD

I only met Kurtz once.

CIVILIAN

Would he remember you ?

WILLARD

Maybe.

COLONEL

What was your impression of him ?

Willard shrugs.

CIVILIAN

You didn't like him.

WILLARD

Anyone got a cigarette.

The Major offers him one; they wait as he lights up, thinks.

WILLARD

(continuing)

I thought he was a lame.

COLONEL

A lame ?

WILLARD

This is years ago, before he joined Special Forces, I guess. We had an argument.

COLONEL

About what ?

WILLARD

I don't know. He was a lame, that's all.

COLONEL

But why ?

WILLARD

He couldn't get through a sentence without all these big words; about why we kill.

COLONEL

Well, he's killing now.

WILLARD

Maybe.

CIVILIAN

What does that mean ?

WILLARD

Maybe it's not Kurtz. I don't believe he's capable of that. I just don't believe it.

COLONEL

It's got to be Kurtz.

CIVILIAN

The point is that Kurtz or somebody attacked a South Vietnamese Ranger Platoon three days ago. Last week a Recon helicopter was lost in the area -- another took heavy damage -- direct fire from their base camp.

WILLARD

Our Recon flight ?

CIVILIAN

Ours.

WILLARD

Touchy.

CIVILIAN

You can see, of course, the implications, if any of this -- even rumours leaked out.

WILLARD

You want me to clean it up -- simple and quiet.

CIVILIAN

Exactly -- you'll go up the Nung River in a Navy P.B.R. -- appear at Nu Mung Ba as if by accident, re-establish your acquaintance with Colonel Kurtz, find out what's happened -- and why. Then terminate his command.

WILLARD

Terminate ?

CIVILIAN

Terminate with extreme prejudice.

12 FULL VIEW - ON THE DELTA

A waterway leading out to the ocean -- it is broken and divided into hundreds of channels, islands, water farms.

A Navy patrol boat (P.B.R.) is waiting by a dock area. This is small, light craft, very fast, and heavily armed. Its men stand at attention in a small and simple military ceremony. Willard approaches them in battle-dress: Tiger suit, full field pack, forty-five, helmet, M-16. The boat commander salutes Willard.

13 MED. VIEW

We hear the introductions faintly, UNDER Willard's VOICE.

WILLARD (V.O.)

I met the P.B.R. crew; they were pretty much all kids, except for Phillips, the Chief -- Gunner's Mate Third Class L. Johnson -- Lance Johnson; Gunner's Mate Third Class J. Hicks -- The Chef -- Radio Operator Second Class T. Miller; they called him Mr. Clean.

WILLARD

Chief, try to keep out of where we're going -- Why we're goin' and what's gonna be the big surprise.

CHIEF

All right with me, I used to drive a taxi.

WILLARD

Let's go.

The Chief nods. They all break formation and jump aboard and otherwise go about their work.

The twin diesels kick up -- and the boat moves away from the dock. The Chef jumps aboard; Lance mans the forward twin fifty-caliber machine guns -- they wave to the guards on the dock and move away into the complexity that leads to the ocean.

DISSOLVE TO :

14 FULL VIEW - STORMY SEA

The boat slams through the heavy sea ; hurtling off the top of a wave and crashing full into the trough of another.

15 MED. SHOT - BOAT COCKPIT - WILLARD AND CHIEF

Willard holds on to whatever he can -- he looks very pale. Water crashes over the bow and drenches everyone. The Chief mans the wheel and the ENGINES WHINE. Lance climbs back from his position. He looks at Willard, who just stares ahead into space, swallowing.

DISSOLVE TO :

16 LONG SHOT - BOAT DUSK

The dusk is spectacular through the broken storm clouds -- the sea is calm again.

DISSOLVE TO :

17 VIEW ON THE BOAT - PROCEEDING UP THE COAST

The Chief is at the helm -- Willard approaches him.

CHIEF

The Delta closes off to us about ten miles out of Hau Fat. We'll be able to pick up some supplies -- bit I think there are only two points we can draw enough water to get into the Nung River. It's all Charlie's turf from there on out.

WILLARD

We're gonna have some help to get in the river. You know these waters, Chief ?

CHIEF

'Bout six months ago I took a man up to Lo Mung Bridge. He was regular Army too. Shot himself in the head. I brought his body back down.

WILLARD

Shot himself. What for ?

CHIEF

Beats me -- the sun was too much for him, or the mud. Who knows ?

Pause, looking at Willard.

18 CLOSE SHOT - ON WILLARD

Suddenly, his attention is diverted -- there is a slow buffeting, as if the air around them is being sucked out and replaced quickly. The boat shakes slightly. There is a distant ROLLING NOISE like interrupted thunder. All the men have stopped whatever they're doing -- stand up and look out toward the shore and the green jungle hills beyond. The buffeting and NOISE CONTINUES -- they all stand silently -- suddenly it stops.

WILLARD
Arch light.

CHEF
I hate that -- Every time I hear that noise something terrible happens.

CHIEF
Anybody see some smoke ?

CLEAN
Too far inland.

LANCE
There they are.

He points up to the sky.

19 FULL SHOT - ON THE SKY

Way up -- past any clouds and barely discernible, we SEE the black silhouettes of four B-52 bombers, their vapor trails streaming white against the dark blue sky.

CLEAN
Charlie don't ever hear 'em. Not till it's too late -- don't have to hit you neither, concussion'll do it for a quarter mile or better.
Burst your ears -- suck the air outta your lungs.

20 FULL SHOT - BOAT - CREW

They are looking up. Willard sits down, unconcerned. He takes out the dossier given him by ComSec. He flips through the letters and other documents.

WILLARD (V.O.)
The dossier on A detachment had letters from Kurtz' wife and the wives and families of his men.
All asking where to send future mail, understanding the necessary silence due to the nature of their work -- None of the men had written home in half a year.

Occasionally, in the b.g., we FEEL the terrifying buffeting of the distant B-52 BOMBING.

21 CLOSE - ON WILLARD

studying, examining a report.

22 MONTAGE - PICTURES OF KURTZ

Kurtz' face evolves through the various stages of his career as represented in the pictures in the dossier, as Willard reads :

WILLARD (V.O.)
Lieutenant Kurtz has shown a dedicated and well-disciplined spirit. He is a fine officer, combining military efficiency -- with a broad background in the Humanities, the Arts and Sciences ...

Another picture of Kurtz in Germany, standing next to the 161st Petroleum Supply Group sign.

WILLARD (V.O.)
(continuing)
... He views his military career as the dedication of his talents to bringing our values and way of life to those darker, less fortunate areas in the world.

A SHOT of Kurtz at jump school.

WILLARD (V.O.)
(continuing)
... I feel Captain Kurtz' request for Special Forces training is highly unusual in regard to his past humanitarian concerns, and his somewhat liberal politics, though I can see no reason to deny it.

A CLOSE SHOT of Kurtz with Green Beret on in the Vietnam jungle. His face is blank and vacant.

WILLARD (V.O.)
(continuing)
... We feel Major Kurtz' need to bring a sense of Western culture to the backward peoples of these areas will be of use in accordance with our 'Vietnamization' programs ...

MOVE IN TO Kurtz' empty eyes until the photograph is just a BLURRED MASS OF DOTS.

DISSOLVE TO :

23 EXT. HAU FAT - AN ADVANCE STAGING AREA

WILLARD (V.O.)

One day later we came to an advanced staging area along the coast. This was our last chance to pick up supplies before approaching the mouth of the Nung River.

The VIEW OF THE COASTLINE leading up along the long loading docks at Hau Fat, an advance staging area for operations "Brute Force" and "Mailed Fist."

Everywhere are tents -- oil drums -- sandbagged bunkers -- helicopters -- tanks -- guns -- men. Nobody builds advanced staging areas like the Americans.

As the P.B.R. approaches the docking area, Lance notices something.

LANCE

Hey.

They look as a Chris-craft speeds by pulling a fancy water-skier who waves as he slaloms by. The men just look at one another.

24 VIEW ON THE DOCK

The P.B.R. pulls in -- the men scan the busy surroundings.

CHIEF

Lance -- I want you to go with the Captain an' get three extra drums of fuel and maybe scrounge some more 50 caliber.

LANCE

Yeah -- look at those uniforms.

25 FULL SHOT - PARADE GROUNDS - TROOPS

A platoon drills in the hot, lazy sun; they are clean and pale, in contrast to Lance and the others, just off the airplane.

CHIEF

Poor bastards, have a long year to go.

The troops turn and march TOWARD US with six weeks of Advanced Infantry Training to back them up.

26 FULL SHOT - DOCK - P.B.R. - CREW

They are tying up at the dock -- a young SERGEANT is filling cut papers concerning them and talking with Willard.

SERGEANT

I don't know anything about these papers, sir.

WILLARD
They're in order -- it's perfectly clean -- just check with ComSec-Intel like I said.

SERGEANT
Well, you know I don't have the priority to do that, sir. It says here not to contact Com-Sec-Int. Who's your commanding officer ?

WILLARD
Right now -- I am.

SERGEANT
Well who the hell verifies that ?

WILLARD
I do.

He signs it quickly, leaving the Sergeant totally confused.

CHIEF
No shit -- what's all the activity for around here ?

SERGEANT
The show --

WILLARD
What show ?

SERGEANT
Big show in the parade grounds this noon -- some boss stuff --

WILLARD
This -- Bob Hope or the like --

SERGEANT
No sir, I think -- this'll be a little bit different --

CHIEF
Where's it gonna be ?

He points --

27 FULL SHOT - PARADE GROUNDS - PEDESTAL

A large, well-built pedestal has been erected -- this is surrounded by a deep moat filled with punji stakes and garnished with concertina wire. It is empty --

DISSOLVE TO :

28 FULL SHOT - PARADE GROUNDS - TROOPS

The entire area around the pedestal and right up to the wire is mobbed with seething American fighting men. Some of these boys have just gotten here -- others have been in the jungle for months. All have one thing in common, to see and if possible grab an American girl. Their need far surpasses that of the run-of-the-mill rapist, pervert, or child-molester. To counter their need of course are the moat, punji stakes and barbed wire -- but implementing this are seven "riot control positions" equipped with the latest in teargas launchers, attack-trained German shepherds and assorted psychological warfare aides. Even so armed, the great mass of wild men are right up to the wire.

29 FORWARD AREA

jammed in the crowd

CHEF

It's really too much -- I mean I've collected every picture of her since she was Miss December.

CLEAN

Yeah -- you can really get hung up on them like the cat in the Delta.

CHIEF

What cat ?

CLEAN

One that went up for murder -- he was an Army Sergeant.

CHIEF

I never heard about that.

CLEAN

Yeah -- he really dug his Playboy mag, man -- I mean like he was there when it arrived -- He just knew.

CHEF

So what happened ?

CLEAN

He was working A.R.V.N. patrols and had one a them little cocky gook asshole Lieutenants -- anyhow, the Lieutenant took his new Playboy one day, sat on the end of the dock, and wouldn't give it back.

CHEF

Yeah -- typical A.R.V.N.

CLEAN

Then went too far -- he sat there and starts mutilating the centerfold. Poking pins in her an' all that. Sergeant says, don't do her like that. You leave your shitty little hands off that girl.

Gook Lieutenant says Fuck you in Vietnamese -- Sergeant says, don't do that again. You'll wish you hadn't. Then he stood up, flicked his iron to rock and roll and gave the little zero a long burst through the Playboy mag. Man, it blew him clean off the dock -- Hell, just the magazine was floatin' there all full of holes.

CHIEF

They nail him for it bad ?

CLEAN

He's in the L.B.J. -- didn't give him no medals or nothing --

In the b.g., we begin to HEAR a SWELL of TWO THOUSAND MALE VOICES; the ENGINES of four helicopters approaching. All heads turn skywards while one descends onto the pedestal kicking up a lot of dust and general resentment. On the nose and doors of the black Huey are painted large Playboy rabbits. Finally the blades are trimmed and a strange silence descends over the men. The door of the copter slides partially open -- two young Green Berets step out with M-16's to varied catcalls. When this abates a young, extremely well-dressed man emerges. He is the epitome of a Hollywood AGENT. Hair is combed impeccably and free of dandruff -- clothes are formal but hip -- shoes are shined -- Quite some dude -- his presence causes some stirring but seems to strangely quiet the man.

He walks over to the microphone.

AGENT

I'd like to say hello from all of us up here, to all of you out there. All of you who've worked so hard during Operation Brute Force -- Paratroopers -- Infantry -- Airmen -- Medics -- Marines -- and Sailors. And I want you to know that we feel proud of you and know how hard your job is. To prove it -- we've brought some entertainment we think you're gonna like: The Playmate of the Year and her two runners up !

He pulls open the door and three unbelievably beautiful sex playmates in fringed go-go outfits leap out and start dancing to the Creedence Clearwater Revival singing "Suzy Q."

30 MONTAGE ON THE GIRLS AND MEN

VARIOUS SHOTS as the girls dance in an incredibly erotic manner -- smiling.

The faces of the G.I.'s pass -- their jaws drop -- some look almost horrified. Chef is hypnotized -- Mr. Clean cries. Chief mouths unspoken obscenities with sentimental tenderness.

Others grab the air in front of them. With each movement their need increases by the square.

31 FULL SHOT - PEDESTAL - GIRLS - MEN

They crush forward starting to scream -- men fall on the wire -- the guards in the "riot control positions" forget -- the attack dogs are trampled. The mob as one surges forward onto the wire. Men scream and fall into the moat, which is filling up fast. The Agent sees this all as he has seen it before. He casually pulls the pin of a smoke grenade; the girls retreat into the copter -- he follows, then the two Green Berets. The ROTARS WHINE -- the black Playboy Huey lifts off just as the first crazed men reach it. They grab frantically for the wheels, but miss. The Huey wheels up into the blue sky, leaving them all below.

Such are the ways of war.

CUT TO:

32 EXT. FULL VIEW - DAY

The P.B.R. moving further up the primitive coastline. There are few signs of civilization; no villages, no boats -- just the overwhelming presence of the jungle.

WILLARD (V.O.)

Two days out of Hau Fat, there was nothing but us and the coastline. I felt like I had set off for the center of the earth...

Suddenly, Chief looks out, ahead.

CHIEF

Smoke !

WILLARD

Where ?

They all turn. Chief points up the coast.

33 FULL SHOT - THE COASTLINE

A thick train of black smoke rises from the green jungle.

WILLARD

Black smoke ... secondary burning.

The Chief grabs field glasses.

CHIEF

Yeah -- fishing village -- helicopters over there. Hueys, lots of 'em.

WILLARD

First Air Cavalry. They're the ones gonna get us into the River.

34 FULL SHOT - THE BEACH AND VILLAGE

A vast field of devastation -- smashed and smoking palm trees -- deep, ragged craters -- gutted and burning huts -- shattered sampans and bodies washing around in the surf.

35 MED. SHOT - BEACH - WILLARD AND CREW

They wade through the water to the beach where they are met by a heavily armed group of men.

Overhead jets swoop by FIRING ROCKETS, the NOISE drowning out Willard's attempt at conversation with some of the men.

We can't hear any of the talk, but we notice that the Sergeant turns up to a particular Huey, and points to it.

36 FULL SHOT - HELICOPTERS

Three Hueys swoop in low -- they are heavily laden with machine guns -- rockets and loudspeakers. The two outside copters hover, while the center copter lands, raising a lot of dust. It cuts its rotors and the other copters pull up and off to the side. Two armed soldiers jump from the doors and stand with guns ready. Then a tall, strong looking man emerges. He wears a well-cut and neatly-stretched tiger suit. It is COLONEL WILLIAM KILGORE -- tough looking, well-tanned, with a black mustache.

He crouches over, holding his hat in the rotor wash. It is no ordinary hat but a L.A. Dodgers baseball hat. He walks out, and then stards to his full immense height and with his hands on his hips he surveys the field of battle. His eyes are obscured by mirror-fronted sunglasses.

KILGORE
(bellowing)

Lieutenant: Bomb that tree line back about a hundred yards -- give me some room to breathe.

A Lieutenant and radio man nod and rush off.

37 CLOSE VIEW ON WILLARD

He was not quite prepared for this.

38 VIEW ON KILGORE

turning to his GUARDS

KILGORE
Bring me some cards.

GUARD Sir ?

KILGORE

Body cards, you damn fool -- cards !

The soldier rushes over and hands him two brand new packages of playing cards wrapped in plastic. Two other soldiers get out of the copter and walk over. They are well-tanned and carry no weapons. They seem more casual about the Colonel than anyone else. The Sergeant walks up, leading Willard, the Chief and Lance.

WILLARD

(formally)

Captain B-L. Willard, sir -- 4th Recon Group -- I carry priority papers from Com-Sec Intelligence 11 Corp -- I believe you understand the nature of my mission.

KILGORE

(not looking up)

Yeah -- Na Trang told me to expect you -- we'll see what we can do. Just stay out of my way till this is done, Captain.

He cracks the plastic wrapping sharply -- takes out the deck of new cards and fans them. The Colonel strides right past Willard with no further acknowledgement. The others follow,

39 TRACKING VIEW

The Colonel walks through the shell-pocked field of devastation. Soldiers gather around smiling; as Kilgore comes to each V.C. corpse he drops a playing card on it -- carefully picking out which card he uses.

KILGORE

(to himself)

Six a spades -- eight a hearts -- Isn't one worth a Jack in this whole place.

The Colonel goes on about this business.

40 TRACKING ON KILGORE

moving through the corpses, dropping the cards.

On of the two tanned soldiers rushes up and whispers something to him. He stops.

KILGORE

What ? Here. You sure?

The soldier points to Lance, who immediately puts down the card he was holding. Kilgore strides over to the young man, who almost instinctively moves closer to Willard.

KILGORE
(continuing)
What's your name, sailor ?

LANCE Gunner's Mate, Third Class --
L. Johnson, sir.

KILGORE
Lance Johnson? The surfer?

LANCE
That's right, sir.

Kilgore smiles -- sticks out his hand.

KILGORE
It's an honor to meet you Lance.
I've admired your nose-riding for years -- I like your cutback, too.
I think you have the best cutback there is.

LANCE
Thank you, sir.

KILGORE
You can cut out the sir, Lance -- I'm Bill kilgore -- I'm a goofy foot.

41 VIEW ON WILLARD

His entire, top priority mission has been put in the background.

KILGORE (O.S.)
This is Mike from San Diego and Johnny from Malibu -- they're good solid surfers -- none of us are anywhere near your class, though.

Lance blushes, sort of mumbling thanks.

WILLARD
My orders are from Com-Sec
Intel -- B.L. Willard, 4th Recon --

KILGORE
Just hold up a second, Captain -- I'll get to you soon enough --
We've got things to do here.

Willard eats it, for now. Kilgore puts his hand on Lance's shoulder, and continues flipping the cards indiscriminately on the bodies as they talk.

KILGORE
(continuing)
... we do a lot of surfing around here. Like to finish up operations early and fly down to Vung Tau for the evening glass. Have you ever surfed the point at Vung Tau? I liked the beach breaks around Na Trang a lot -- good lefts.

He passes a twisted gun emplacement with about five bodies -- sprinkles cards all over them.

KILGORE
(continuing)
... we keep three boards in my Command Huey at all times. You never can tell when you're gonna run into something good. I got a guy in Cam Rau Bay that can predict a swell two days in advance. We try to work it in.

He stops at a particularly wild-looking Viet Cong who has died with his mouth agape -- staring wild-eyed in horror at the sky. Kilgore pauses.

KILGORE
(continuing; to himself)
Hell, that's an Ace if I ever saw one.

He puts the card in the gaping mouth.

42 CLOSE VIEW OVER THE VIET CONG

We SEE the Colonel and the others walk off -- the dead Viet Cong and card are in the immediate f.g. The card has the shield of the CAV printed beautifully, and above it the motto: DEATH FROM ABOVE.

KILGORE
Where've you been riding, Lance?

LANCE
I haven't surfed since I got here.

KILGORE
That's terrible -- we'll change that -- I'd like to see you work -- I've always liked your cutback; got a hell of a left turn, too.

DISSOLVE TO :

43 EXT. THE HELICOPTER - MED. SHOT

Willard is sitting with Kilgore on a couple of chairs by a table set up in front of the command copter.

Everywhere we SEE armed men, sandbags, barbed wire, oil drums etc. Hueys are constantly ROARING over. ARTILLERY BOOMS in the far distance. Kilgore looks at the map.

KILGORE
Why the hell you wanna go up to Nu Mung Ba for?

WILLARD
I got bored in Saigon.

KILGORE
What's the furthest you been in?

WILLARD
Haiphong.

KILGORE
Haiphong? Shit, you jump in ?

WILLARD
No. Walked.

KILGORE
What'd you do for supplies?

WILLARD
(he shrugs)
Mercenaries -- agents, traitors -- they put out caches.

KILGORE
Can you trust them?

WILLARD
No. They put out two or three for every one I needed. When you get to the one you'll use, you just stake it out. If something feels wrong, you just pass it up. On one mission, I had to pass up three and ended up living on rats and chocolate bars.

KILGORE
Nu Mung Ba. Last I heard, Walter Kurtz commanded a Green Beret detachment at Nu Mung Ba.

WILLARD
When did you hear?

KILGORE
'Bout a year ago? Is Kurtz still alive?

WILLARD
Who knows.

KILGORE Seems to me he got himself fragged. i heard some grunt rolled a grenade in his tent.
Maybe a rumor. Helluva man -- remarkable officer. Walter Kurtz woulda been a General some day. General of the Army.
Shit, Head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Did you knew Kurtz?

WILLARD
I met him.

KILGORE
Don't you agree?

WILLARD
He musta changed !
(pointing to the map)
I got to get into the Nung River, here or here.

KILGORE
That village you're pointing at is kinda hairy.

WILLARD Hairy ?

KILGORE
I mean it's hairy -- they got some pretty heavy ordnance, boy -- I've lost a few recon ships in there now and again.

WILLARD
So? I heard you had a good bunch of killers here.

KILGORE
And I don't intend to get some of them chewed up just to get your tub put in the mouth of the goddamn Nung River. You say you don't know Kurtz?

WILLARD
I met him.

KILGORE
You talk like him. I don't mind taking casualties, Captain, but I like to keep my ratio ten to one in this unit -- ten Cong to one.

WILLARD
You'll find enough Cong up there.

KILGORE
What about this point here?

He puts his finger on the map.

KILGORE
(continuing) What's the name of that goddamn village -- Vin Drin Dop or Lop; damn gook names all sound the same.

He motions to one of his surfers.

KILGORE
(continuing)

Mike, you know anything about the point at Vin Drip Drop?

MIKE
Boss left.

KILGORE
What do you mean?

It's really long left slide, breaks on the short side of the point -- catches a south swell.

LANCE Nice.

Willard looks at Lance -- then at Kilgore.

KILGORE
Why the hell didn't you tell me about that place -- a good left.
(to Willard)
There aren't any good left slides in this whole, shitty country.
It's all goddamn beach break.

It's hairy , though. That's where we lost McDonnel -- they shot the hell out of us. It's Charlie's point.

KILGORE
How big it is?

MIKE
Six to eight feet.

Kilgore gazes out across the parked helicopters.

KILGORE
(to himself)

Willard nudges Lance -- who gets the idea.

LANCE
Boss. What's the wind like.

MIKE
Light off shore -- really hollow.

WILLARD
We could go in tomorrow at dawn
-- there's always off-shore wind in the morning.

CHIEF
The draft of that river might be too shallow on the point.

KILGORE Hell, we'll pick your boat up and lay it down like a baby, right where you want it. This is the Cav boy -- airmobile. I can take that point and hold it as long as I like -- and you can get anywhere you want up that river that suits you, Captain. Hell, a six foot left.

(he turns to an advisor)
You take a gunship back to division -- Mike, take Lance with you -- let him pick out a board, and bring me my Yater Spoon -- the eight six.

TOM
I don't know, sir -- it's -- it's --

(hard) What is it?

TOM
Well, I mean it's hairy in there -- it's Charlie's point.

Kilgore turns and looks to Willard, exasperated.

WILLARD
Charlie don't surf.

44 FULL SHOT - HELICOPTERS - DAWN

What seems like hundreds of Hueys standing, their rotors churning a great wind -- Inside, the men of the 1st Cavalry Airmobile -- toughest unit in Vietnam.

Kilgore's helicopter is being loaded with ammunition and has surfboards strapped underneath.

45 MED. VIEW

Kilgore strides up to the side door, dressed for battle. He looks out, around. He turns to his door GUNNER.

KILGORE
How do you feel, boy?

GUNNER
Like a mean motherfucker, sir.

He turns to his R.T. man.

KILGORE
Let's go.

46 FULL VIEW

Helicopter rotors build up speed -- gas turbines belching fire from their jet pipes -- dust flying as fifty helicopters rise; ROAR OVER CAMERA and deploy into attack formation.

47 NEW VIEW

Helicopters moving THROUGH the FRAME: almost a dance of dragonflies.

48 INT. COMMAND COPTER - MED. SHOT - KILGORE, WILLARD, OTHERS

Willard looks ahead -- Kilgore sits near the door. Below they see the jungle whisk by and they are suddenly over the ocean, low and fast.

49 MONTAGE

CLOSE SHOTS of rocket pods -- mini-guns in bizarre looking mounts.

CLOSE SHOTS of the three surfboards strapped below the command helicopter, next to the fearsome weaponry.

And finally, CLOSE SHOTS of the men -- nervous, excited very few of them really scared -- they fondle their rifles, grenade launchers, anti-personnel grenades, claymore mines; plastic explosives cord; flame-throwers; M-60 machine guns; expandable rocket launchers; mortars and bayonets.

50 INT. COMMAND COPTER

Kilgore cranes his neck and almost leans out to watch the waves -- then he sits back relaxed.

KILGORE
(to Willard)
We'll come in low out of the rising sun -- We'll put on the music about a mile out.

WILLARD
Music?

KILGORE
Yeah. Classical stuff -- scares the hell out of the slopes -- the boys love it.

51 MED. SHOT

POV behind the PILOT and CO-PILOT -- the ocean rushes below.

PILOT
Big Duke six to Eagle Thrust -- turn on coordinates 1-0 -- niner, assume attack formation.

The helicopter banks into a tight turn and bears toward the coast.

RADIO (V.O.)
Eagle Thrust formation target 2800 yards -- begin psch-war operations.

52 CLOSE SHOT - LOUDSPEAKERS

The ocean rushes below as suddenly the LOUDSPEAKERS BLARE out Wagner's "Ride of the Valkyries."

53 FULL SHOT - HELICOPTERS

From the water we SEE the massive grouping of Hueys -- gun-ships -- troop carriers -- medevac and recon -- ROAR over low in battle formation BLARING out "Ride of the Valkyries."

54 INT. HELICOPTER - MED. SHOT - CREW

POV behind pilot --

PILOT 700 -- 600 yards -- 500 -- Commence firing.

The whole copter shakes.

55 EXT. VIET CONG FISHING VILLAGE - FULL SHOT

A Vietnamese coastal fishing village built along the beach and palm trees -- with rice paddies behind. This village commands a delta where ocean and river merge.

Sampans are pulled into a cover where they are being unloaded. We SEE bunkers with N.V.A. regulars ambling about.

Suddenly we HEAR the distant MUSIC -- Everyone stops; they stare out to see. Men scream orders -- women run from huts bearing ammunition and rifles -- Everywhere there is activity to prepare for the defense of the village.

Camouflage is removed from anti-aircraft emplacements.
People feverishly unlimber weapons of all types and run to tunnels and trenches.

The MUSIC GROWS LOUDER with the FAINT SOUND of ROTORS

56 EXT. THE HELICOPTER FORMATION - AERIAL VIEW coming directly at us; WAGNER BLARING.

57 HIGH ANGLE

looking down through the helicopters as they approach the village.

58 INT. HELICOPTER - MED. SHOT - CREW

POV behind pilot

PILOT 700 yards -- 600 -- 500 -- commence firing.

The whole copter shakes.

59 EXT. HELICOPTERS - MONTAGE

We SEE rockets ROAR from pods -- MACHINE GUNS RATTLE -- grenade launchers POUND away -- and MINI-GUNS pour streams of lead and tracers with the SOUND of a DIESEL HORN.

60 FULL SHOT - HELICOPTERS

POV behind lead gunship. They ROAR in over the beach streaming FIRE from doors, pods and nose -- The ground is alive with smoke and fire -- a hut EXPLODES. The lead ship banks sharply up over the trees -- men run

61 MED. SHOT - ANTI-AIRCRAFT EMPLACEMENT

EXPLOSIONS crash around -- the MUSIC and SOUND of the COPTERS almost drown them out. The gunner FIRES frantically -- COPTERS are ROARING over -- GUNFIRE rips around. The gunner is blown away.

62 MED. CLOSE ON WILLARD

as the ship he is in swoops down, its MACHINE GUNS FIRING into the village.

63 MED. SHOT - SWOOPING COPTER

The Pilot leans out and SHOOTS a charging V.C. in the head with his .38, then ducks back in.

CO-PILOT
We're down, Eagle Thrust -- we're hit. We got a hot L.Z. here.

BULLETS RIP through the plexiglass. The Pilot FIRES back.

CO-PILOT
(continuing) Hell of a hot L.Z. Need immediate air strike on the tree line, Eagle Thrust.

64 INT. COMMAND COPTER - MED. SHOT - WILLARD, KILGORE, OTHERS

Kilgore has R.T. equipment -- he leans out near the door gunner.

KILGORE
Big Duke Six to Hell's Angels Four -- bring it in on along tree line and huts.

RADIO (V.O.)
Hell's Angels Four to Big Duke Six -- we'll need green smoke -- suggest you have the FAC mark it.

KILGORE
Haven't got time, Hell's Angels -- lay it right up the tree line.

65 FULL SHOT - JET SQUADRON

Four F-4H Phantoms peel off and streak toward the coast.

66 INT. COMMAND COPTER - VIEW ON WILLARD AND KILGORE

KILGORE
Fucking savages.

WILLARD Who?

KILGORE
The enemy. Who else?

67 HELICOPTER'S POV - THE JETS

The jets streak by below laying in huge gobs of orange napalm along the trees.

KILGORE (O.S.)
(on radio)
Very good, Hell's Angels -- suggest you follow with cannon fire.

68 INT. COMMAND COPTER - MED. SHOT

They circle the battle.

RADIO (V.O.)
This is Baker Delta Four -- Captain hit bad -- need dust-off.
Receiving heavy automatic weapons fire from huts about thirty yards to our left.

KILGORE
Big Duke Six to Baker Delta Four
-- hold -- we're right over you.

He turns to door gunner.

KILGORE
(continuing)
Right along the doors, boy.

The gunner FIRES leaning out --

KILGORE
(continuing) Fine... fine... little higher.
Through the roof; yeah, that's good.

He leans back in.

KILGORE
(continuing) Didn't anybody bring me any bombs, grenades, claymores or anything?

LIEUTENANT
You didn't tell me to, sir.

KILGORE
(grumbling)
You shoulda known.

Suddenly, BULLETS SMASH through the copter -- Plexiglass SHATTERS; the copter vibrates and turns sharply. Kilgore is thrown down where he hangs on.

KILGORE
(continuing) Sonuvabitch -- anybody hurt?

WILLARD
Automatic weapons flashes along those trees -- probably eleven millimeter guns and AK-47's.

KILGORE
The trees, eh...

He grabs the R.T.

KILGORE
(continuing) Eagle Thrust Four -- Big Duke Six. Join me in sparaying some trees.

RADIO (V.O.)
Affirmative, Big Duke Six -- We're even got some rockets left.

KILGORE
Take her in low, Lieutenant.

69 FULL SHOT - THE TREES, HELICOPTERS

The two helicopters swoop up out of the smoke and blast the trees with ROCKETS, MACHINE GUNS and GRENADE LAUNCHERS.

Other copters join -- The V.C. break and run through the rice paddies in the f.g. -- BULLETS EXPLODING around them -- they scream and fall FIRING back.

70 INT. COMMAND COPTER - MED. SHOT - KILGORE, WILLARD

Kilgore looks out as three V.C. break and run through the rice paddies -- the helicopter turns and follows them -- the door gunner swings out and BLASTS two of them into the mud. He takes a bead on the third.

KILGORE
Hold it, boy.

He puts his arms across the sights -- the gunner swings back inside.

KILGORE
(continuing) Take her up to 300 feet,
Lieutenant.

They rise above the paddy -- the man below runs for all he's worth. Kilgore motions to the door gunner who steps aside. Kilgore buckles himself into the gunner's harness.

KILGORE
(continuing) Rifle.

A hand passes him a M-16.

KILGORE
(continuing; hard)
My rifle, soldier.

There is some fumbling and then a hand passes him a 300 Weatherby Magnum with a zebra wood stock -- mother of pearl inlays and a variable power scope. Kilgore takes it and opens the bolt.

71 VIEW ON WILLARD

Amazed at these proceedings.

72 VIEW ON KILGORE

as he loads the rifle with huge cartridges. He gets into the sling and slams the bolt shut.

73 MOVING POV. ON THE V.C.

He is running hard, but starting to sink into the mud. The Huey DRONES overhead, its huge shadow behind him on the mud. He turns and FIRES with a pistol.

74 INT. COPTER - MED. SHOT - KILGORE, WILLARD

Kilgore leans out; pulls the gun in tight -- takes careful aim and the Cong is BLASTED flat into the paddy. Kilgore leans back, opens the bolt, ejecting the spent cartridge out the door. He hands Weatherby back into the copter.

75 VIEW ON WILLARD

The gaudy rifle passed by him.

SOLDIER (O.S.)
That's 27, sir.

WILLARD
Anyone got a card?

Somebody hands Willard the deck. He takes a card and flips it out of the copter, never lifting his gaze from Kilgore.

DISSOLVE TO :

76 FULL SHOT - BATTLEFIELD - THE CAV, V.C.

Americans run through the hooches FIRING and throwing GRENADES. Helicopters swoop overhead -- JETS ROAR by -- Uniformed N.V.A. regulars burst from a tunnel entrance and charge the Americans. The SHOOTING is at point blank range -- automatic, as the V.C. are cut down.

77 INT. COMMAND COPTER - KILGORE, WILLARD, LANCE, ETC.

Kilgore leans out carefully, looking over the battlefield. He has the R.T.

He leans back, deliberately avoiding Willard to speak to Lance.

KILGORE
The L.Z.'s cooling off fast -- we'll move in another company an' then we'll own it.
(he laughs to himself)
Charlie's point.

He looks out toward the ocean.

KILGORE
(continuing) Good swell.

LANCE
What, sir?

KILGORE
I said it's a good swell -- hell of a good swell 'bout six feet.
Let's get a look at it.

Lance looks at Willard and then agrees.

78 FULL SHOT - COPTER, SURF

The pilots are used to this -- they bank sharply and swoop in on the lineup of waves, coming in low over the point and streaking down a long, lined-up green wall as if surfing it. They tip up over and up at the last minute as the wave breaks.

DISSOLVE TO :

79 FULL SHOT - BEACH HUTS, SOLDIERS

Americans line up blindfolded Viet Cong and N.V.A. regular troops outside a burning hut. GUNFIRE is DISTANT and sporadic -- an occasional MORTAR round SCREAMS in. A soldier yells in Vietnamese in a southern accent and the prisoners are marched away. Other soldiers are already setting up heavy weapons emplacements -- 50 cal machine guns etc. Three Hueys ROAR in, fanning the smoke with their wind. The center one, the command ship, lands. JETS SCREAM over and the two gunships pull up at 200 feet. Another Huey zooms in low and lands behind the Colonel's. The doors open, guards jump out, check the situation, and out steps Kilgore and Lance. From the other copter are more guards, Kilgore's surfers and others of the P.B.R. crew. Willard follows.

80 FULL SHOT - THE POINT

They stride out across the debris-strewn beach. Kilgore stands majestically on the point watching the waves. A SHELL SCREAMS overhead.

SOLDIER
Incoming !

They all dive, except Kilgore. He is watching a big set -- the SHELL EXPLODES in the water about a hundred yards away, sending up a huge geyser of spray. Kilgore is unmoved.

KILGORE
Look at that.

They look.

LANCE
This L.Z. is still pretty hot, sir, maybe we oughta stand somewhere else.

Kilgore pays him no mention.

WILLARD
I'm waiting for the fucking boat, Colonel.

KILGORE

(without looking)
It'll get here, soldier.

He turns to Mike and Johnny who have their faces in the sand.

KILGORE
(continuing) Change.

MIKE Wh -- what?

KILGORE
Change -- get out there -- I want'a see if it's ridable -- change.

MIKE
It's still pretty hairy, sir.

KILGORE
(bellowing)
You want'a surf, soldier?

He nods yes meakly.

KILGORE
(continuing) That's good, boy, because it's either surf or fight.

They turn and hurry off -- Kilgore grabs an M-1 from one of the guards. They all think he's going to shoot the surfers or someone. They move back uneasy.

KILGORE
(continuing) I'm gonna cover for 'em -- that's all.

He cocks thye weapon. Lance looks around uneasily. The Colonel walks over.

KILGORE
(continuing) You think that section on the point is ridable, Lance?

LANCE
I think we ought to wait for the tide to come in.

A SHELL SCREAMS OVER -- they all hit the dirt except for Kilgore. It EXPLODES throwing sand through the air. Kilgore leans down yelling over the NOISE.

KILGORE
Doesn't happen for six hours.

Lance looks up at him terrified, holding onto his helmet.

KILGORE

(continuing)
The tide -- doesn't come in for six hours.

DISSOLVE TO :

81 FULL SHOT - SURF - MIKE AND JOHNNY

They walk through shallows carrying brightly colored boards. They look very scared. JETS SCREAM overhead, FIRING CANNONS. Helicopters wheel by carrying out wounded.

They wear olive drab surfing trunks with the Cav's shield on the left leg. The same shield is emblazoned on the boards along the word "Airmobile". They edge into the water and paddle through the mild shorebreak.

82 FULL SHOT - THE POINT - SURFERS

They paddle up the point in the calm channel -- the beautiful waves breaking beyond them.

83 CLOSE SHOT ON JOHNNY, MIKE

They paddle on their stomachs, keeping low -- breathing hard and constantly looking around scared out of their minds.

84 MED. SHOT - KILGORE AND LANCE

Kilgore looks at them with his field glasses. Lance kind of sits below taking cover in a shell hole.

KILGORE
They far enough?

LANCE
Sure -- fine --

Kilgore turns and takes a giant electric megaphone from a waiting lackey.

KILGORE
(through megaphone) That's far enough -- pick one up and come on in --

85 FULL SHOT - THE POINT, SURFERS

They line themselves up on the point. A good set is building. Mike turns strokes into it -- takes off -- drops to the bottom and turns -- trims up into a tight section -- everything right except he keeps looking around frantically.

86 CLOSE SHOT ON LANCE AND KILGORE

Another SHELL SCREAMS over and EXPLODES down the beach.

Lance looks over at Willard.

LANCE
(to himself)
Maybe he'll get tubed.

WILLARD
What?

LANCE
Maybe he'll get inside the tube -- where -- where they can't see him.

A SERIES of SHELLS ROAR in.

Incoming !

Lance ducks -- puts his hands over his head. The SHELLS SCREAM over Kilgore and out towards the point. Kilgore looks through his glasses -- two EXPLOSIONS in the water are HEARD.

KILGORE
Son of a bitch.

Lance looks up and out toward the point in horror.

87 FULL SHOT - THE POINT

Two surfboards float in the channel bobbing up and down on the waves.

88 MED. SHOT - LANCE AND KILGORE

LANCE
(to himself)
The tragedy of this war is a dead surfer.

Willard looks over, beginning to think Lance is crazy, too.

WILLARD
What's that?

LANCE
Just something I read in the Free Press.

KILGORE
They just missed a good set -- the chicken shits !

Lance looks up.

89 FULL SHOT - THE POINT , SURFERS

They come up near their boards and climb on -- smoke hangs over the water.

KILGORE (O.S.)
(megaphone)
Try it again, you little bastards.

90 BACK TO SCENE

He turns to Willard.

KILGORE
(continuing)
I'm not afraid to surf this place.
I'll surf this place.

91 CLOSE SHOT ON KILGORE

He turns, glowering to his lackeys.

KILGORE
Bring that R.T., soldier.

He grabs it.

KILGORE
(continuing) Big Duke Six to Hell's Angels -- Goddamit, I want that treeline bombed -- yeah -- napalm -- gimme some napalm -- son of a bitch -- yeah, I'll take H.Z. or C.B.U.'s if you got any of them -- just bomb 'em into the Stone Age, boy.

He throws the R.T. back to a soldier -- another SALVO
WHISTLES over -- everyone drops.

KILGORE
(continuing; to himself)
Son of a bitch.

As the SHELLS EXPLODES on the beach behind him, KILgore raises his M-16 and EMPTIES it full automatic in the general direction of the trees. He mumbles a few unintelligible swear words and jams a new clip into his rifle turning to Lance --

KILGORE
(continuing) We'll have this place cleaned up and ready for us in a jiffy, boy.
Don't you worry.

He FIRES another clip as the JETS SCREAM overhead.

92 FULL SHOT - RIVER - COPTERS

A sky-crane without pod descends slowly toward us --
The P.B.R. hangs below it.

The Chief, mr. Clean and Chef stand watching this sight along with other soldiers. A man guides the descending copter till the boat settles carefully in the shallows.

The Chief and others leap aboard; unshackle the hoists -- load on ammunition and fuel. The battle is still going on around them. They all look up as a wedge of PHANTOMS streak over low and peel off one by one to begin their bombing run.

93 FULL SHOT - PHANTOMS - MONTAGE

Phantoms RAKE the trees with 20 mm CANNONS -- FIRE five inch ROCKETS in salvo -- "Bull Pup" MISSILES -- drop H.E. (high explosives) and C.B.U's (Cluster Bomb Units) and finally an immense amount of NAPALM.

94 FULL SHOT ON THE P.B.R.

The Chief is at the helm --the engine starts; Clean and Chef work feverishly, ducking for cover every-so-often when an EXPLOSION hits nearby. The boat begins to back out of the shallows. The EXPLOSIONS of NAPALM are reflected on their faces; the ROAR of the FIRE drowns out almost everything.

CHIEF

Forget that extra drum -- it's too damn hot.

CLEAN

Clear on starboard -- Where's Lance an' the Captain?

CHIEF

I saw that Colonel's Huey on the point --

Two HELICOPTERS SCREAM over FIRING ROCKETS.

CHIEF

(continuing)

Let's just get outta here.

95 FULL SHOT - THE POINT - KILGORE, WILLARD , LANCE, OTHERS

Kilgore watches the waves with his field glasses -- smoke drifts over.

Lance crouches below. Willard is up looking off in another direction. SHELLS SCREAM over, but even their noise is drowned out by the fierce SHRIEK of the PHANTOMS and the deafening BLAST of HIGH EXPLOSIVES. Willard stares at the tree line where it comes down to the river. The JETS are making a hell of the tree line; a hell of fire and bustling steam that nothing could live in. Willard's glance goes further downriver through the black smoke and there merging in the river -- small and vulnerable, is his boat.

WILLARD

(to Lance)

Look. There it is; the boat.

Lance looks over -- a tremendous relief on his face. But still there remains the threat of Kilgore, standing stark against the sky. Willard silently motions Lance toward the boat.

LANCE (whispers) He'll kill us.

WILLARD
He can't kill us.
(realizing as he says it)
We're on his side.

Kilgore FIRES another clip at the tree line, and then strides back without looking at them.

KILGORE
(almost to himself)
You smell that.
(louder)
You smell that?

LANCE
What?

KILGORE Napalm, boy -- nothing else in the world smells like that --

They reflect the glow from the burning trees.

KILGORE
(continuing; nostalgically)
I love the smell of napalm in the morning.

One time we had a hill bombed for 12 hours. I walked up it when it was all over; we didn't find one of 'em ... not one stinking gook body. They slipped out in the night -- but the smell -- that gasoline smell
-- the whole hill -- it smelled like ...

(pause) victory...

He looks off nostalgically.

WILLARD
You know, some day this war's gonna end..

KILGORE (sadly)
Yes, I know.

Suddenly he senses something -- he stops -- lifts his hand -- then frantically licks his fingers and puts them up in the air.

KILGORE
(continuing)
The wind --

LANCE
What?

Sure enough there is a rushing breeze that increases.

KILGORE
(rising maniacally) Feel it -- it's the wind -- it's blowing on shore -- It's on shore !

He leans down and practically grabs Lance.

KILGORE
(continuing; screaming)
It's gonna blow this place out.
It's gonna ruin it ...

WILLARD
The kid can't ride sloppy waves.

They turn and stare out to sea.

96 FULL SHOT - THE POINT - SURFERS

The wind has changed. Instead of blowing spray back over the waves and hollowing them out, this strange wind is causing white caps and cross chop.. reducing the swell to slop. Mike and Johnny lay low on their boards, overjoyed.

WILLARD (O.S.)
The kid can't stand sloppy waves.

97 MED. SHOT - THE BEACH - LANCE, KILGORE, WILLARD

WILLARD
You don't expect this kid to ride that crap, do you? He's a goddamn artist, he needs something to work with...

Slapping Lance on the shoulder.

LANCE
Yeah, I'm an artist, goddamit !

KILGORE
(apologetically) Yeah -- yeah, I can understand how you feel.

He turns toward the trees.

KILGORE
(continuing)
It's the napalm -- it's causing the wind -- ruining my perfect left.

He staggers off toward the trees followed by his guards and other lackeys.

KILGORE
(continuing; mumbling)
The napalm -- ruin -- napalm my perfect left -- my perfect left point break -- napalm --

Lance motions with his eyes to Willard.

98 FULL SHOT ON THE P.B.R.

The P.B.R. along the river shallows -- The Chief and crew waiting and yelling.

99 MED. VIEW ON WILLARD AND LANCE

WILLARD
Are you finished surfing?

LANCE
Yeah... thanks.

WILLARD
Want to say goodbye to the Colonel?

LANCE Nah.

WILLARD
Then let's get the hell out of here.

They break and run like hell toward the boat in the distance. OUR VIEW TRACKS with them. They are cheered by the crew -- suddenly, Willard sees something and stops... Lance continuing. In a pile of equipment that the Hueys have left are two surfboards -- Willard looks at them.

LANCE
No -- no, Captain.

WILLARD
Which one's the Colonel's?

LANCE
The Yater -- the clear one with the thin stringer.

Willard glances over to it with determination. There is still MORTAR FIRE coming in between him and the board. Suddenly, Willard makes a run for it.

CHIEF (O.S.)
Incoming ! Incoming -- son of a bitch.

The ROUNDS bracket the P.B.R. and line up the beach toward Willard. He stands there and doesn't move, the surfboard under his arm. The shells kick up sand. Lance has dropped. Fragments whistle by, one rips a chunk of foam and fibreglass from the rain of the board.

WILLARD (calm)
This one , Lance?

LANCE
Yeah, Jesus Christ !

Once again, Willard takes off fast as hell with the board under his arm. Lance follows toward the boat, through the water. Willard hands the board up to Mr. Clean, and they both scamper abroad, exhausted and relieved.

CLEAN
What'd you that for?

WILLARD
When I was a kid I, never had a Yater spoon.

Mr. Clean stuffs the board in the stern 50 Cal. mount. The boat turns -- ENGINES RUNNING HARD and ROARS OFF toward the deeper water of the river -- the board clearly visible on the stern.

DISSOLVE TO :

100 FULL SHOT ON THE RIVER - P.B.R

The P.B.R. ROARS BY going down the river at full speed. It is swerving and zig-zagging to avoid potential enemy fire.

101 MED. SHOT ON THE CREW

They all are in full battle positions -- their twin fifty Cal. guns turning; warily covering the jungled banks. The Chief is at helm -- Willard crouches against some armor plate, huddled with his M-16 ready. Chef is behind him at the radio. Lance leans back from his forward turret.

LANCE
(yelling) Maybe we better stay in under the trees till dark -- we got his Yater.

WILLARD
He didn't look like he'd take that sitting down.

They all look up into the sky -- expecting the worst.

WILLARD
(continuing)

Let's put some distance between us and Charlie.

The Chief nods.

CHIEF
Lance ---

LANCE Yeah.

CHIEF Why don't you roll us a big joint? I think the Captain'd like that.

They all look at Willard uneasily. After a suspensful pause, Willard smiles:

WILLARD
Take one a mine --

He fishes into his breast pocket -- pulls out a huge cigar-sized joint. They all smile -- Willard lights up.

DISSOLVE TO :

102 FULL SHOT - THE P.B.R.

It zig-zags away from us down the river at high speed.

DISSOLVE TO :

103 FULL SHOT - THE TREES, BOAT, CREW - NIGHT

The boat is hidden under some trees along the river bank. The men wait tensely listening --

LANCE
You hear it again?

WILLARD
No -- I don't think so. But it'll be back. They were circling. It'll be back.

LANCE
You think he'd of shot us?

WILLARD When?

LANCE
Any time -- us -- Americans.

Lance looks over at Willard.

WILLARD
I don't think he'd of shot us on the beach but -- he'd of shot us if he saw me taking the board --

LANCE

A Yater spoon is hard to get -- especially here.

WILLARD

He's a man who knows what he wants -- he does know what he wants.

CHEF

Can I go get those mangos now?

CHIEF

I'll go with you in a while -- judt hold tight awhile --

LANCE

Captain -- that was all true about the rats and chocolate and stuff?

WILLARD

Sure.

LANCE

And you could just tell when the supplies were booby trapped?

WILLARD

It's a feeling you get in the jungle. When you get good, you can find a track and tell not only how many they are, but their morale, how far they're going, whether they're near their camp, the weapons they're carrying.

CLEAN

How can you tell their weapons.. an' how far they're going?

Willard smiles.

WILLARD

Mostly from the imprints when they put them down to rest. their morale from the way they drag their feet, or the joints that may be lying around. If they're near a base camp, they wouldn't be conserving food; they'll be throwing it away half-eaten. If the branches aren't broken, their weapons are slung. But all this is just technique.. There's a feeling you get after a while, that's what's important. I was going through a village once. I was looking for a certain party. I took off my boots, and walked into each hut. It was midnight. I went into three like that and suddenly I realized I'd gone into each hut the same way -- standing up -- so the next one I went in on my belly. An RPD burst took out the door a bit above my head.

(he shrugs)
Things like that.

A pause, and then suddenly his attention is diverted -- They all are silent -- It is pitch dark -- we HEAR the distant SOUND of ROTOR-BLADES and indistinguishable language on a loudspeaker -- The talk stops -- the ROTORS grow LOUDER until almost overhead.

KILGORE (V.O.)
(over a loudspeaker)
I'm not gonna hurt or harm you, boy -- I just want the board back -- You can understand -- It was one of my best -- You know how hard it is to get a board you like, boy. I'm not gonna hurt or harm you -- Just leave it where I can find it --

The HELICOPTER DRONES on into the night -- the same speech starts again further off -- Finally the noise ceases.

CLEAN
Jesus -- that guy's too damn much.

CHIEF
I wonder if that was the same copter.

WILLARD
He's probably got 'em all over the river with that recording.
We better move now while it's dark.

Chef steps forward with a plastic basket.

CHIEF
Yeah, Chef -- go ahead -- take Lance with you --

WILLARD
I'll go with him --

They all look at him.

WILLARD
(continuing) I wanta get my feet on solid land once in awhile --

He grabs an M-16 and follows Chef over the side.

104 MED. SHOT - THE JUNGLE - CHEF, WILLARD - NIGHT

They cautiously walk through the underbrush.

WILLARD
Chef.

CHEF
Yes, sir --

WILLARD
Why they call you that?

CHEF
Call me what, sir?

WILLARD
Chef -- is that 'cause you like mangoes an' stuff?

CHEF
No, sir -- I'm a real chef, sir
-- I'm a sauciere --

WILLARD
A sauciere --

CHEF
That's right, sir -- I come from New Orleans -- I was raised to be a sauciere.. a great sauciere.
We specialize in sauces; my whole family. It's what we do. I was supposed to go to Paris and study at the Escoffier School; I was saving the money. They called me for my physical so I figured the Navy had better food.

WILLARD
What are you doing out here?

CHEF
Cook school -- that did it.

WILLARD
How?

CHEF
They lined us all up in front of a hundred yards of prime rib -- magnificent meat, beautifully marbled.. Then they started throwing it in these big cauldrons, all of it -- boiling.
I looked in, an' it was turning gray. I couldn't stand it. I went into radio school.

They move into a slight clearing.

WILLARD
(whispering)
-- quiet --

Chef crouches close -- redies his M-16. Willard gestures that he heard something; he points.

105 MED. SHOT - DIFFERENT ANGLE

PAN SLOWLY over jungle -- END REVEALING Willard and Chef.

WILLARD
(silent)

There...

He points -- motions Chef to move away -- they cover the spot. A few yards from them they hear something move. It is obviously no small jungle creature. They walk toward a patch of black elephant grass; their guns at the ready. They look at each other. Willard is cold, methodical, doing something he knows well. There is a noise again -- some of the growth rustles. He and Chef move a distance apart, and join in stalking the probable V.C. Willard directs the Chef with hand gestures, and bird and cricket sounds. They move stealthily, closing the apex of their triangle on the hunted. The two men drop low into the elephant grass, and remain motionless. Then Willard makes the cricket noise, and they move closer. Willard's left hand edges out along the M-16's far end, so that he only has to point the finger of that hand and he will hit what he wants. He makes another command and they rush the trapped enemy.

106 MED. SHOT - THE ELEPHANT GRASS - WILLARD AND CHEF

Suddenly there is a RUSHING SOUND -- The grass folds down quickly toward them -- Willard plants his feet and from the hip lets go FULL AUTOMATIC. The Chef retreats FIRING short BURSTS into the grass -- the grass folds almost to Willard -- then a huge tiger leaps out at them; snarling magnificently. They FIRE wildly, emptying their clips.

CHEF
It's a motherfucking tiger -- goddamn...

He turns and bolts through the jungle, as scared as a man can be.

CHEF
(continuing; screaming)
Goddamn -- Jesus Christ tiger -- motherfucking tiger -- ohhhhhhhhh --

Willard jams another clip in his gun and backs out of the clearing, covering the bushes and runs, scared out of his head as well.

107 FULL SHOT - THE BOAT - THE CREW

They all are armed -- Lance has the twin 50's pointed into the jungle. Chef comes screaming out of the brush, throws his rifle into the boat and dives headfirst after it.

CHEF

(hysterical) Ohhhh -- tiger ! Oh goddamn !
It's a tiger ! Jesus Christ !
Goddamn, a tiger ! Ohhhhhhhh.

The Chief tries to grab him; takes his gun away, but is unable to take a hold of the Chef, as he slithers around the boat, trying to find safety. Willard follows from the jungle -- The Chef is moaning and stares off into the night.

LANCE
What's this tiger shit?

WILLARD
No shit... I think I shot the hell out of him.

LANCE
You think?

WILLARD
I wasn't looking.. I was running.

CLEAN
Was a big tiger -- no shit?

WILLARD
Who stopped to measure him -- let's get the hell out of here.

CHEF
A motherfucking tiger -- I could've been killed.

The ENGINE ROARS to life -- the P.B.R. pulls away with great speed.

CHIEF
You forgot the mangoes, didn't you?

CHEF
Mangoes? There as a fucking tiger in the woods -- I could've been eaten alive. I'm never going into that jungle again. I gotta remember never get out of the boat; never get outta the boat.

They move off; swallowed by the darkness. The JUNGLE NOISES remain, as OUR VIEW BEGINS a MOVE INTO the jungle.

WILLARD (V.O.)
He was right, the Chef -- never go into the jungle, unless you're ready to go all the way.

DISSOLVE TO :

108 EXT. THE BOAT IN MARINA DEL RAY - NIGHT

Willard, thinking, his BACK TO US. Suddenly, he turns around, and we SEE his face.

WILLARD (V.O.)
What was in the jungle? What was there, waiting for me?

He lights the cigarette; the light of his match illuminating his face momentarily. There is something different about him; a maturity, a cool inner peace.

WILLARD (V.O.)
(continuing)
... Kurtz was in there. Or was he; was it Kurtz? He was just a name to me now; I couldn't remember a face, a voice -- he just didn't add up to me. all his liberal bullshit about the end of savagery
-- and the role of our culture, our way of life...

Willard looks toward the group of people on the boat -- there is still some MUSIC. They talk and drink and laugh.

WILLARD (V.O.)
(continuing) Our way of life -- I really started to look forward to meeting Kurtz again.

DISSOLVE TO :

109 WATERWAY - MOVING FORWARD - DAY

We HEAR:

RADIO
-- must remember that we owe our thanks for these to the wonderful services of the U.S.O.
-- here's another oldie -- this one dedicated...

110 VIEW ON CHEF

by himself on the P.B.R.; he has wiped mud under his eyes to kill the glare; it is incredibly hot. He is barechested, wearing a hat made of a banana palm.

RADIO
... to the fire team at An Khe from their groovy C.O. Fred the Head --

111 VIEW ON THE GROUP

RADIO
The Rolling Stones and "Satisfaction..."

CHEF
Outa sight.

The SONG BLARES ON -- they all dig it.

PAN TO Willard, sitting alone in the rear, reading from his file on Kurtz. We REVEAL Lance in the b.g., water-skiing behind the P.B.R., slaloming back and forth on his single ski to the MUSIC -- jumping the wake occasionally.

112 NEW VIEW - ON THE P.B.R.

Lance waterskiing to "Satisfaction."

113 VIEW ON CLEAN

alert, at the rear of the boat -- his M-16 ready, just in case.

114 VIEW ON WILLARD

_Willard opens a letter from the packet.

We can SEE it is a private correspondence -- feminine writing on the envelope.

WILLARD (V.O.)

The dossier of A Dttachment contained letters from the families and wives of Kurtz' men There were letters from Kurtz' wife as well.

115 CLOSE SHOT - ON THE LETTER

It is addressed to Colonel Walter Kurtz -- in the corner is the return address of Mrs. Colonel Walter Kurtz -- Willard's hand fushes through the packet and comes up with apicture of a very attractive, thirty-five year old American Beauty... She is classically American.

116 CLOSE SHOT - ON WILLARD

looking at the picture -- puts it back, then opens the letter, straightens it.

WILLARD (V.O.)

Dearest Walt -- I have to confess something. I know how you feel about this, but I had to ask Bob to find out what he could -- I just couldn't stand it anymore, not knowing where you are, whether you're alive or dead. I'm sorry Walt, I'm sorry I said that. Bob didn't tell me anything -- he said he couldn't -- I can't stand it anymore, Walt -- I just can't stand it.

Willard looks out at the jungle.

Deep impenetrable jungle -- dark and primeval forests pass by. The Rolling Stones CHANT on in the b.g.

WILLARD (V.O.)
(continuing)

I have to take the kids to school every morning now -- carpools just never work out.

Jeff came home with a black eye on Tuesday but said he won anyway. He wouldn't tell me what the fight was about. Jeff keeps asking where you are -- he has maps of Viet Nam in his room now. He misses you very much. I can't take this much longer, Walt. I love you and I just can't stand it.

117 CLOSE ON WILLARD

He folds the letter up, files through some others quickly and gets to a peculiar envelope stamped Top Secret with a stenciled date on it. It is also noted that this was the last correspondence to leave Nu Mung Ba. It is addressed to Kurtz' wife. He opens the letter -- it is written in a scrawled savage hand to no one in particular. It reads:

Sell the house Sell the car Sell the kids Find someone else
Forget it
I'm never coming back Forget it --

He folds up the letter.

118 CLOSE SHOT - WILLARD

He looks out at the ominous jungled mountains.

DISSOLVE TO :

119 FULL SHOT - P.B.R. - RIVER OUTPOST - RAIN

The P.B.R. pulls in towards an American outpost that is being used as a forward medical evacuation center. Various helicopters pads are SEEN, but only one helicopter -- the H-34 painted with Playboy rabbits that brought the girls to Hau Fat. Several soldiers in raincoats come out the dock as the P.B.R. pulls up.

120 MED. SHOT - WILLARD, SOLDIERS

Willard looks into some empty tents -- looks around the dreary muddy camp. Two soldiers pass.

WILLARD
Soldier -- where's your C.O.?

SOLDIER
Stepped on a booby trap, sir -- got blown all to hell --

WILLARD
Well , who's in command here?

SOLDIER
I don't know -- don't have any idea -- I'm just the night man --

He turns and walks off babbling incoherently --

WILLARD
What about you, soldier?

The soldier he was talking to turns around smiling idiotically and making animal noises. He stumbles off after his friend.

121 MED. SHOT - DIFFERENT ANGLE - WILLARD

He looks around disgustedly

VOICE (O.S.)
(whispering)
Captain --

Willard turns around looking for where the voice came from.

VOICE (O.S.)
(continuing)
Over here, Captain --

He turns to see the Hollywood Agent under the flap of a large tent so that he won't get wet. He wears the same clothes as before, but is much dirtier. He motions Willard into the tent.

122 INT. TENT - MED. SHOT - WILLARD, AGENT

They duck inside -- it is dark and damp.

On cots around a stove sit the three playmates and the pilot. The nearest one, CATHY, a blonde, picks leeches out of her feet. The other two, TERRI and LYNDA, play cards with the helicopter pilot. Willard looks over the situation.

AGENT
You came in on that boat, didn't you?

WILLARD
Yeah --

AGENT

Where are you headed?

WILLARD
What's it matter? Get to the point.

AGENT
Look -- you know the girls -- Thta's Terri -- she was playmate of --

WILLARD
Yeah, I caught your show at Hau Fat.

They all look over.

AGENT
Oh -- I see -- Well, girls, this is Captain -- eh --

WILLARD
Captain Willard -- go ahead.

AGENT
Look -- we got in a little trouble
-- they rudely took our helicopter for MedEvac work on this -- uh Operation Brute Force -- They just brought it back this morning.

WILLARD
Yeah.

AGENT Well I mean like they also took our fuel -- We've been here two days.

WILLARD Dreadful.

AGENT
Look -- the girls could get killed -- we're not supposed to be this close combat, I mean real combat.

WILLARD
Well --

AGENT
We could use some fuel -- just a half drum -- just enough to get us out a here.

WILLARD
We need all our fuel.

He turns and starts to leave.

AGENT
But, Captain, think what these girls have done for the boys -- think of how they've risked --

Willard is almost out of the tent.

TERRI
Captain --

He turns around.

TERRI
(continuing) It's really rough here -- Captain
-- we're just not built for it --

The Pilot laughs.

PILOT
That's rich --

TERRI
Do us a favor -- I'd do one for you -- if I could --

Willard just stares at her -- even though she's in jeans and field jacket she is something to see -- The Agent takes Willard aside -- Terri goes back to the others.

AGENT
Look -- you know who that is, Captain -- you know what she's saying -- you'll never see stuff that good outside of a magazine for the rest of your life.

WILLARD
I'm not that fond of blondes -- maybe I like brunettes --

AGENT
Take your pick -- they all like you -- I can tell --

WILLARD
I like all of them --

AGENT
Good -- like I said, take your pick.

WILLARD
I said I like all of them.

AGENT
Now just a second -- I'm doing you a favor, buddy -- what're you trying to pull?

Willard turns to leave again.

WILLARD
We need all our fuel anyway.

AGENT
Wait -- wait -- don't get up tight

-- what I meant was we'd need a whole drum for that --

WILLARD
Sit down -- we'll talk about it.

Willard sits down on a metal chair -- motions the Agent to do likewise.

AGENT
What's there to talk about -- this whole thing disgusts me.

WILLARD
My men --

AGENT What !

WILLARD
That's what there is to talk about -- my man -- I take a good care of my men --

The girls are trying to pretend they're not listening -- the helicopter Pilot is cackling to himself.

AGENT
You're out of your skull --

WILLARD
We have a lot of pride in our unit --

AGENT
How far do you think you can push -- what kind of people do you think --

WILLARD
Esprit de corps --

AGENT
No -- absolutely not --

WILLARD
One for all -- all for one --

AGENT
You can keep your fucking fuel --

Willard gets up.

WILLARD
You make some of your closest friends in the army -- war has a way of bringing men together.

AGENT
Get out --

WILLARD
Men of all races -- nationalities --

He gets up and starts out.

AGENT
Two drums --

Willard turns around slowly.

AGENT
(continuing)
Two whole drums --

WILLARD
We can use some fifty caliber and a 16 too --

AGENT
I don't know what you're talking about -- Get fucked --

WILLARD
I will -- I assure you that -- You got a fifty on that H-34 -- leave the ammo in boxes -- I'll get my men to bring the first drum with 'em --

He turns to go under the tent flap.

WILLARD
(continuing) Have the girls freshen up a bit -- comb their hair -- put on something -- you know what I mean --

He leaves.

123 FULL SHOT - P.B.R. - CREW

They are all working on patching the boat and cleaning it up in general. Mr. Clean sits in f.g., cleaning an M-16.

CLEAN
You keep this thing in this condition an' it's gonna jam, Lance -- mark my words.

LANCE
Why don't you go pet the water buffaloes -- get off my back.

Behins them on the beach stand several water buffaloes eating mud or whatever they do. They are painted jungle brown and green camouflage with grey bottoms -- on their sides the words have been stenciled in black:

1 Each --
Buffalo, Water B-1A
U.S. Army No. 15239

Willard walks through them down to the boat.

CHIEF Careful, Captain, they've been known to charge.

WILLARD
All right I got a little surprise for you --

They all look up.

WILLARD
(continuing) I've arranged with those people we saw at Hau Fat to give us some 50 caliber in trade for a couple a drums of fuel --

CHEF
No shit.

WILLARD
Chef -- since you're such a fan of Miss December's I think you should be detailed with Lance and Clean to take the first drum up there.

CHEF
I don't believe you --

CHIEF
What're you trying to say, Captain --

WILLARD
You'll see soon enough -- get going, sailor --

CHIEF
No shit -- hot damn --

124 INT. TENT - MED. SHOT - LYNDA, CHEF

He has followed her into the tent awe-struck -- she casually starts unbuttoning her fatigue jacket and taking off her pants. he just stands there, his arms at his sides.

CHEF I've got every one of your pictures -- I've got the centerfold -- the Playmate's review -- the Playmate of the Year run-off -- everything, even the calender --

LYNDA
Well, get undressed and let's get it over with --

CHEF
I can't believe it -- I'd a never even got to see you if it wasn't for this war --

She lies down on the cot in only her panties.

CHEF
(continuing) You wouldn't mind -- uh kinda draping that jacket over you sort of the way you were in the calender, would you?

LYNDA
Come on -- cut this crap -- I gotta get back to Saigon --

CHEF
Just let me look awhile -- I just don't believe --

CUT TO:

125 INT. TENT - CLOSE SHOT - LANCE, CATHY

They have just finished making love. cathy looks very pleased. Lance finishes tying his boots -- she draws on his back. He gets up -- starts to leave.

LANCE
Well -- uh thanks -- see you around.

CATHY
Yeah.

He leaves -- she pulls herself up and starts combing her hair -- Mr. Clean walks in.

CATHY
(continuing) Who are you?

CLEAN
I'm next --

She shrugs.

DISSOLVE TO :

126 INT. TENT - MED. SHOT - WILLARD, TERRI

He finishes tying on his boots -- pulls on his jacket -- his gun belt and picks up his M-16. She looks up at him --

WILLARD
Ma'am -- I'd like to thank you for what you an' all your friends have done for us -- I want you to know that me an' the men appreciate you coming all this way -- riskin' your lives -- living uncomfortably an' doing all you can to entertain us. I want you to know personally, Miss, that for the past few minutes you have made me feel at home.

She picks up a shoe to throw at him. he turns, exits f.g.

WILLARD
(continuing)
Just wanted to say that, ma'am.

The SHOE CLANGS off his helmet.

CUT TO:

127 EXT. THE P.B.R. APPROACHING DO LUNG BRIDGE - FULL SHOT - NIGHT

The boat edges in toward the wrecked bridge in the distance. Along the banks are sandbagged fortifications with U.S. soldiers in them. There is a bright fire burning uncontrolled in the distance; the sparks and white light from welding on the bridge momentarily lights up the night.

WILLARD (V.O.)
Two days and nights later, we approach the Do Lung Bridge.

128 VIEW ON THE FACES OF THE P.B.R. CREW

watching. Everywhere are wrecked boats -- parts of trunks sticking out of the water -- smashed helicopters on the banks. The bridge is in a state of siege. Mortars and rockets arc through the night indiscriminately and rip through the nearby jungle. Soldiers are everywhere -- scurrying from trenches, carrying materials for the bridge or tending to the wounded, the maimed and the dead. Light automatic WEAPON FIRE is HEARD occasionally. The P.B.R. edges in under the span of the old bridge. Soldiers run up through the water. They are obscured in the darkness.

SOLDIER
I gotta get out a here -- I'll pay
-- I got money.

CHIEF
Get away from this boat.

WILLARD
Who's your C.O., soldier?

The Soldier ducks back and runs away.

SOLDIER
Fuck you, you'll get what's coming to you.

Other men approach the boat. A young LIEUTENANT steps forward.

LIEUTENANT
Captain Willard?

WILLARD
That's me.

LIEUTENANT

Captain Willard -- we got these from Nha Thrang two days ago -- they expected you here then --

He hands up a plastic bag, maximum security markings, Willard takes it.

LIEUTENANT
(continuing) You don't know how happy that makes me, sir.

WILLARD
Why?

LIEUTENANT
Now I can get out a here -- if I can find a way out.

WILLARD
We'll be needing some supplies and fuel -- do you know anybody who can give me a hand?

LIEUTENANT
I'd just clear out as soon as I could if I were you, sir. They're gonna start working on the bridge with torches again. Charlie will start throwing it in hard --

WILLARD
What is this bridge?

LIEUTENANT
It's of strategic importance for keeping the highway into Bat Shan open -- the generals don't like to admit that Bat Shan is surrounded.

He points to the men getting ready to work.

LIEUTENANT
(continuing) Every night we build it and by 0800 they've blown it up -- it and a lot of good men -- But the generals like to say the road is open -- ha ! Nobody uses that road except Charlie.

He turns and splashes off into the darkness.

LIEUTENANT
(continuing)
This is the cesspool of hell.

SOLDIER (O.S.)
Incoming.

SHELLS WHISTLE OVER and CRASH into the bridge -- MEN SCREAM in the distance -- the EXPLOSIONS are thunderous.

CHIEF

(yelling)
All right -- Lance, go with the Captain an' see what you can scrounge --

Willard climbs out with Lance.

CHIEF
(continuing; to Willard) Better make it fast, sir -- we don't really need much anyway.

Willard nods and they scurry off the bank under the bridge.

129 MED. SHOT - WILLARD, LANCE

They dash up the embankment and along the barbed wire on the edge of the road. SHELLS SCREAM overhead, they don't know where to run.

VOICE
Straight ahead, son of a bitch.

They dive towards the voice.

130 CLOSE SHOT - TRENCH

They dive in, a SOLDIER is crouched in f.g. holding his buddy who is crying uncontrollably.

SOLDIER
You came right to it, son of a bitch --

WILLARD
Son of a bitch, sir.

The Soldier doesn't respond.

WILLARD
(continuing) Where's your chief supply officer?

SOLDIER
Beverly Hills --

WILLARD What?

SOLDIER
Straight up the road -- a concrete bunker -- Beverly Hills -- where else you think he'd be?

WILLARD
C'mon --

There is an apparent lull and they dash out along the road. Suddenly to their right an M-60 STARTS OPENING UP from a sandbagged emplacement.

SOLDIER (O.S.)
Get your asses down, buddy.

They drop and crawl to the slit trench and run up to the emplacement. Several SOLDIERS man a M-60. One has a sniper rifle -- another tries to spot for the Gunner. Willard and Lance edge up along the trench. Willard trips.

VOICE
Watch your feet, asshole --

Willard looks down.

VOICE
(continuing)
You stepped on my face.

LANCE
We thought you were dead.

VOICE
The whole world loves a smart ass.

They move ahead more carefully. The Gunner BLASTS away into the night, there is a pile of brass cases about three feet high next to him. Finally he stops swearing to himself.

WILLARD
What're you shooting at, soldier?

GUNNER
Gooks.

He turns and sees it's an officer.

GUNNER
(continuing) I'm sorry, sir.

WILLARD
It's all right, sergeant -- what's out there?

GUNNER
They were tryin' to cut through the wire -- I got 'em all I think.

OTHER SOLDIER
Oh yeah -- listen.

There is a low moaning SCREAM from out in the wire -- it stops for a minute then continues hideously.

GUNNER
He's trying to call his friends -- send up a flare.

The Spotter does, it arcs up, then bathes them in eerie light. The Gunner FIRES a long BURST.

SPOTTER
Those are all dead, stupid, he's obviously underneath 'em --

They think about this as the flare goes out. The SCREAMING gets more intense.

GUNNER
Wake up the Roach.

The Spotter moves down to where a tall lanky SOLDIER is leaned up against the trench. He kicks him hard several times. Roach wakes and just looks up. On his helmet are the words: "GOD BLESS DOW."

ROACH
Yeah, man.

SPOTTER
Slope in the wire -- hear him.

He listens, he does, he nods.

SPOTTER
(continuing) Bust him.

Roach gets up somewhat annoyed but very cool. He saunters up the machine gun dragging his M-79 which has paisley designs all over it.

GUNNER
Hear him?

ROACH
Sure , yeah.

GUNNER
You need a flare --

ROACH
No, it's cool.

He opens the breech of his shotgun-like weapon and plunks the big slug into it. He snaps it closed then rests it across his forearm over the trench -- he listens to the SCREAM, calculating.

ROACH
(continuing)
He's close -- real close.

He adjusts his sights so that the gun is aimed high into the air. He listens again then FIRES. The GRENADE WHISTLES off into the night. There is a sharp EXPLOSION that cuts off the scream. Then the THUD of bodies or pieces of bodies coming down around them.

ROACH
(continuing) Muhhh Fuhhh ...

He staggers back down the trench to go to sleep.

They stand in the shallows waiting for Willard and Lance. Clean is nervous, he constantly checks his M-16. SHELLS WHISTLE by and CRASH in the distance.

CHEF

Geez, I wish they'd hurry.

A SOLDIER comes up on his way with some others to start building the bridge.

SOLDIER

Hey, buddy, that boat still runs, eh?

CLEAN

Yeah, it still runs.

SOLDIER

Do me a favor buddy, please.

CLEAN

What is it?

He takes out a handful of crumpled envelopes.

SOLDIER

Send these out when you get back to the world.

He puts them in Clean's hand.

SOLDIER

(continuing)

It's to everyone I really knew -- the first girl I screwed -- my brother -- best friend -- I wanted to tell 'em how much I enjoyed knowing 'em -- it's been a great twenty years. I gotta let 'em know.

CLEAN

What're you askin' me for -- put 'em in the first helicopter comes in tomorrow.

SOLDIER

Nobody comes in here.

He points up at the mountain ridges.

SOLDIER

(continuing)

The N.V.A. 312th -- over there the 307th -- on that hill we counted fourteen different guns in one minute -- they got rockets mortars, snipers in those trees, there's a million of those shitty little bastards out there -- we're all gonna die.

He grabs Clean and looks at him with a maniacal urgency.

SOLDIER
(continuing)
I'm gonna be dead.

Clean takes the letters.

SOLDIER
(continuing)
You got a chance in that boat -- by morning you could be five miles down the river.

CLEAN
We ain't goin' down the river.

The Soldier looks at him as if he is joking.

CLEAN
(continuing) What's up river from here anyhow --

The Soldier doesn't answer, just stares dumbfounded.

SOLDIER
Spooky.

Charlie?

SOLDIER
No, it'd be spooky without the war
-- give 'em back.

He takes the letters and leaves, somewhat disappointed and disgusted. Willard and Lance come back down the beach carrying some belts of ammunition and a couple of extra M-16's.

CHIEF
Wow, you must a found the C.O., eh?

WILLARD
We found some bodies -- let's get out a here.

132 FULL SHOT - DIFFERENT ANGLE - P.B.R.

They edge through the shallows as the men light up their welding torches to start work on the pontoon bridge -- then pull away and accelerate fast.

133 MED. SHOT - THE P.B.R. CREW

The Chief is at the helm -- they all look back in the distance where the bridge was -- the hills flash with artillery discharges -- there is a fiery glow from the bridge area and the CONCUSSION of heavy EXPLOSIONS.

DISSOLVE TO :

134 EXT. FULL SHOT - P.B.R. - CREW - RAIN

The boat moves uneasily upriver, through this tropical downpour. Mr. Clean is in the f.g., oiling and cleaning his 50-cal, his M-11 and M-79 -- the rest of the crew are forward, taking shelter from the rain under the canvas canopy. Clean works methodically under an umbrella he was set up by leaning the surfboard against gun mount.

135 EXT. THE RUSHING RIVER - NEW VIEW - RAIN

The river is moving fast against them. all manner of debris; tree trunks, sweeping by the P.B.R.

CHIEF
(to Willard)
I can't see a fucking thing.

There is a loud CRACKING SOUND, as one of the pieces of tree-trunk whacks the hull, and bounces off. Willard climbs forward, and looks down.

CHIEF
(continuing) We hit a big enough one this hull will shatter like a Corvette.
Fucking plastic boat.

Willard practically hangs off forward with a long pole, warding off the big debris moving toward the P.B.R. Clean joins him, helping.

WILLARD
(shouting to Chief) What about ducking into one of those tributaries till this river slows down?

CHIEF
Who knows what's up there?

WILLARD
Can't be any worse than this.
What do you think?

CHIEF
I think this river wants to take us home fast. I'm practically goin' in reverse.

Willard points his pole in the direction of the mouth of a tributary.

WILLARD
Well, get in there.

CHIEF
This whole area is lousy with V.C. -- We don't stand a chance.
Lemme turn around and we'll be in Hau Fat in six minutes.

There is a really loud WHACK against the hull. willard really mad, throws the pole at the Chief, who ducks.

WILLARD
Get in there !

CHIEF
This is my crew and my fucking boat, and I'm the responsible party.

WILLARD
Get in there now or I'll bury you in this river.

It's clear that Willard will kill the Chief if he doesn't do as he says.

CHIEF (finally relents, turns the helm) You're fucking crazy. You're going to get us all killed.

The P.B.R. navigates through the rush and into the mouth of the tributary.

DISSOLVE TO :

136 EXT. THE TRIBUTARY - P.B.R. - RAIN

Rain is pouring down, but the P.B.R. is slowed down to a snail's pace by Hyacinths, literally across the waterway.

Willard, Chef and Clean in the water, cutting through them with machetes.

137 VIEW ON LANCE

having climbed to the highest point of the cockpit.

LANCE
It breaks through in about twenty feet.

138 VIEW ON WILLARD

cutting through. he looks to Chef, who has stopped cutting, and is staring into the jungle.

WILLARD
What do you see?

CHEF
I don't know.

He looks out -- the jungle at this point is very dark and high -- totally impenetrable.

WILLARD
Keep cutting.

They work feverishly, knowing something is wrong.

139 VIEW ON CHEF

cutting with all he's got.

CHEF
I know it sounds stupid, but I feel like the goddamn jungle's watching us.

WILLARD
Probably is.

CHEF
Whatdoya think it thinks.

WILLARD
That we're dumber than we look.

Chef stops again, looks hard, trying to penetrate the darkness and from the very depth of it -- the darkness of it, comes a stream of tracers, lazily arching out at them. It whips between them -- the SOUND FOLLOWING much later.

Other BULLETS SMASH through and ricochet off the deck fittings. GLASS SHATTERS, and a huge hunk of paint is removed from the armor shield by a 20 mm cannon.

CHIEF Lance -- 'bout twenty meters starboard.

Lance leaps down to his position. Willard, Clean and Chef cut feverishly, as the trapped boat struggles to get free.

CHEF
There in the trees !

Everything is confusion -- yelling -- GUNFIRE -- the THUD of heavy BULLETS ripping inti the P.B.R.'s fibreglass hull.

140 VIEW ON LANCE

Lance's twin guns return the FIRE. The Chief moves to one of the heavy guns and joins Lance in returning the FIRE.

141 VIEW ON THE MEN IN THE WATER pushing, cutting. Bullets SMASH and EXPLODE around. Clean climbs onto the boat, and leaps onto a gun emplacement.

142 MED. VIEW

Nobody really knows where the erratic fire is coming from.

CHIEF (back at the helm)

Elevate Lance, in the tree. No,
I saw another.

CHEF
Thirty meters up, Lance; I saw the fucking flash.

Lance grits his teeth, FIRING --

143 CLOSE SHOT ON CLEAN

144 POV BEHIND CLEAN

He BLASTS short bursts of tracers into the jungle, cutting it to salad. Suddenly more tracers from another direction
-- Clean swings around -- BULLETS smash against his shield and rip chunks from the surfboard. He BLASTS a long heavy burst at the jungle -- trees crumble.

CLEAN
I'm ripping 'em, man, son-of-abitch, it's jammed, oh God, it's jammed.

Clean is riddled by MACHINE GUN FIRE.

Chief runs to Mr. Clean -- it is obvious that he is dead.
He looks angrily to Willard.

Willard and Chef are practically through. Willard leaps up, as Chef finishes the last strokes. He moves toward the cockpit.

WILLARD
Throw me that ordnance.

Chef throws him an M-79 and several shells -- Willard opens it, jams a huge projectile and pulls himself over the edge of the cockpit.

WILLARD
(continuing) Give me some kind a field a fire --

BULLETS rip by.

CHEF (exhausted) We're through.

He climbs aboard and collapses.

CHEF
(continuing) Oh, God --

LANCE (FIRING)
I ain't finished ! I ain't finished !

WILLARD
Bring that bow ordnance into those trees.

He jams his gun up as he sees a flash and FIRES -- there is a low POP and a WHISTLE as the GRENADE arches into the jungle.

145 POV. - BEHIND THEM

He FIRES another burst as the GRENADE EXPLODES brightly. There is another POP and WHISTLE , another BLAST. A large tree falls, just as the craft speeds up through the thinning growth. We HEAR strange SCREAMING from the trees and jungle, hideous MOANS and terror-filled CRIES.

146 CLOSE SHOT ON THE CHIEF

He jams the throttle forward -- the boat surges ahead. Willard FIRES another GRENADE from his M-79.

147 FULL SHOT ON THE P.B.R.

The boat slams through the hyacinth growth, moving through the river, FIRING BACK at unseen enemy in the jungle.

DISSOLVE TO :

148 FULL VIEW ON THE P.B.R. - TWILIGHT

The boat moves ahead at half speed through a wide, flat area in the river.

149 MED. VIEW

The men sit around, exhausted, brutalized, wounded. They look like animals, but they are relaxed, because they know they're too far from the banks to be shot at.

They smoke pot and eat silently. Lance smokes a joint and looks at his gun. Splotches of paint have been blown away from the armor shield -- pieces of deck are ripped and ragged around the mount. The boat is a floating wreck.

Clean's body is being prepared in a plastic sack by Chief. All of the men are silent.

Chef comes up from below; he has been wounded in the shoulder.

CHEF

There's some bad holes, man, and the cracks -- water's coming through the cracks. Food's shot to hell.

How much is left?

CHEF
Less than half -- sure is a mess down there.

Chief has been silent by the body of Clean in a plastic sack.

WILLARD
And the grass?

CHEF Still got a lot of that stuff from Nha Trang. But we're running low on the other.

Chief pushes Clean's body into the river.

150 VIEW ON WILLARD

He notices something in the distance.

151 WILLARD'S POV

A light.

152 MED. VIEW

Willard stands up, pointing up the river.

WILLARD
Hey.

They all look over.

WILLARD
(continuing) That's a light down there --

CHEF
Yeah, it is.

CHIEF
What the hell is it?

WILLARD
In the middle of the jungle -- a goddamn light.

153 FULL SHOT - THE P.B.R. - THE TWILIGHT

The P.B.R. approaches the distant light -- which seems to be on the dock of an overgrown plantation building.

154 VIEW ON WILLARD, CHIEF straining to see; he uses field glasses.

155 POV - THROUGH THE GLASSES

Seems to be some figures standing on the dock. The figures pull back behind some drums.

156 BACK TO SCENE

WILLARD
Watch it !

They duck as SHOTS RING OUT from the dock, stitching the water across the P.B.R.'s bow. The crew crouches, guns trained on the dock as the boat still approaches.

WILLARD
(continuing) They're not Cong.

CHIEF
(over the loud-hailer)
We're Americans.

Another BURST, closer.

CHEF
Maybe you shouldn't say we're Americans?

Willard stares at the dock and building, trying to figure it out.

WILLARD
Chef, try your French.

Chief hands the loud-hailer to Chef, who shrugs and shouts:

CHEF
Nous sommes Americains --

Silence.

CHEF
(continuing) Nous ne voulon pas vous agresser.

157 VIEW ON WILLARD

He looks through the glasses.

158 POV THROUGH THE GLASSES

Gradually, a small group appears from behind the drums on the dock.

WILLARD (O.S.)
French Nationals -- they may not be too friendly, though.

159 BACK TO SCENE

We drift closer to the dock. The Chef starts enjoying speaking French.

CHEF Nous sommes Americains -- nous sommes des amis --

There is silence as the boat drifts closer. Then:

FRENCHMAN (shouting out) Vous parlez Francais comme une vache espanole.

CHEF
(to himself)
I thought it was pretty good, myself.

CHIEF What'd he say?

CHEF
Said I speak French like a Spanish cow.

FRENCHMAN (O.S.)
Laisser tomber vos armes --

CHEF
Put the guns straight up -- stand away from the mounts.

WILLARD
Do it.

They do.

FRENCHMAN (O.S.)
Vous pouvez approcher mais doucement --

CHEF
Take her in slow.

160 FULL SHOT - DIFFERENT ANGLE - DOCK

The men on the dock move forward, cautiously. They are a young man, PHILIPPE, about 25, strong and handsome, save for a scar down on the side of his face and through his left eye, which is covered by a patch. He is dressed in a tiger suit and the red beret of the French colonial paratroops. Also of the red beret are HENRY LeFEVRE, a bearded, dark-looking man of 35, and TRAN VAN KAC, a middle-aged half-breed slave. They all bear automatic weapons and suspicious in their eyes. As the boat pulls up to the dock, another Frenchman joins the group, obviously the head man, GASTON De MARAIS, about fifty, small and delicate, with a strength about him.

PHILIPPE
Hands on the heads.

CHIEF

I can't steer with my goddamn feet.

CHEF
Hey, they speak American.

GASTON
Who is the commanding officer?

CHIEF I --

WILLARD
I am -- I'm Captain B.L. Willard.
This is Chief Warrant Officer Phillips -- it's his boat. We were shot up bad downriver and need repairs and food -- we can pay you in gold.

GASTON
Philippe --

Philippe moves to another position -- Kac grabs the rope from the deck and ties it to the dock.

LANCE I'll help you with --

PHILIPPE
Do not move --

Gaston looks at the skyward pointed twin fifties admiringly.

GASTON
Fifty calibers, eh, Captain --

WILLARD
As I said, we can pay you in gold.

GASTON
Entirely unnecessary, Captain.

He puts down his gun -- the others do likewise --

GASTON
We share a common enemy -- you are our guests.
(he steps back)
I am Gaston de marais -- this is my family's plantation. It has been such for 121 years. It will be such after I die.
This is my son, Philippe -- he has fought in Algeria and held the rank of Captain. And Henry LeFevre -- a sergeant; he was at Dien Bien Phu. My personal servant, Tran Van Kac ---

Then he motions to the trees. A young man in a tiger suit and three women come forward from different positions -- all wear bush clothing and bear weapons.

GASTON
(continuing)
My youngest son -- Christian --

161 CLOSE SHOT - CHRISTIAN

He carries an M-60 machine gun in his hand -- a belt of ammunition trailing off behind him.

GASTON
Christian's wife -- Ann-Marie --

A tall girl, goodlooking, but severe -- she carries an M-16.

GASTON
(continuing)
And my youngest daughter -- Claudine.

162 CLOSE ON CLAUDINE

an attractive girl about eighteen. She wears a red paratrooper beret and a well-fitted bush suit. She carries an M-79 grenade launcher and plenty of ammunition.

163 FULL VIEW - P.B.R. - CREW, GASTON, OTHERS

They stand there, exhausted and amazed. Philippe yells in Vietnamese -- about a dozen native men in tiger suits, heavily armed, walk out of the trees from all around them. They look the Americans over warily and assemble at Philippe's command.

WILLARD
American weapons?

GASTON
We took them from the dead.
(smiles)
Now -- I assume you want to rest, to shower. We'll attend to your repairs after dinner.

CHEF Shower.

Willard's men look at one another, dazed.

WILLARD
We don't want to bother you any, we --

GASTON
A man of war is never bothered to aid an ally -- you will follow me,
Captain.

Willard steps off -- then stops, reaches back and picks up his M-16 by the stock.

WILLARD
A habit of men of war, sir -- you understand.

GASTON
Of course, Captain -- an unfortunate necessity.

The men are relieved. They pick up their weapons and follow.

CHIEF
What about the boat?

PHILIPPE
My men will keep it for you --

CHIEF Yeah -- well, I'll stay with the boat.

WILLARD
Chief.
(pause)
Come with us.

They look at each other a moment. The Chief shrugs and follows.

164 FULL SHOT - PLANTATION - WILLARD, GASTON, OTHERS

Gaston stops, points to a guest house off the main structure which is a typical jungle plantation house, save the many sandbagged gun emplacements and barbed wire.

GASTON
A suitable accomodation for your men, captain -- you will,
of course, be quartered with us --

He indicates that the men should follow Philippe. The Chief is hesitant.

WILLARD
Go ahead --

Philippe leads them on, muttering.

GASTON
Captain, this way.

Willard follows -- they walk over past the house and toward the jungle, approaching a huge crater, 100 feet across and about thirty feet deep. The bottom is filled with water and young French and Vietnamese children swim in it. On the opposite rim, sit two men and a woman with machine guns. Gaston strides up and looks down at the crater with pride.

GASTON
(continuing) Magnificent, eh, Captain?

Willard looks.

GASTON
(continuing)

It is very good -- there is no current -- It is very good. I have never seen one like it in all Indochina. I was in Paris when it arrived -- do you know what might have caused --

WILLARD
Looks like a two thousand pound to me. Yeah, a two thousand pound bomb.

GASTON
No, I've seen those in Normandy. This is much better.
(pause)
My country -- my country could never originate this. Magnificent.

Gaston stands in serious admiration for this feat; Willard looks between him and this big hole in the ground in amazement.

165 INT. WORKMEN'S SHOWER - EVENING

A foreman's shower from the old plantation days. The Chief steps out of it, refreshed, though still exhausted. Lance stands there, about to step in, absolutely filthy, caked with blood. His reaction is odd; rather than just stepping into the shower, he seems almost frightened, reluctant to step in. Chef is waiting behind him.

CHEF
A hot shower, hot damn.

He pushes him forward into the water. The dirt and caked mud go swirling off his face and shoulders, and he relaxes as though he suddenly remembers what a shower is.

166 EXT. THE DOCK - P.B.R. - EVENING

battered and torn -- a few of Philippe's Vietnamese guard at the boat.

167 INT. WILLARD'S QUARTERS - EVENING

A beautiful European room with tall ceilings. Still elegantly furnished, although old and decaying.

Willard sits in a comfortable chair in the corner of the room, looking out over the carpet, the bed with its elegant spread; the wash basin; the bidet. His battle dress is black with muck, with bloodstains and burns.

He rises from the chair and steps to a dresser above which is a large mirror. There is an album on the marble top of the dresser. He turns to a page at random.

168 VIEW ON WILLARD

haggard, looking down at the album.

WILLARD (V.O.)
I wondered -- how long has this room been like this; how long has the furniture been standing in these places?

169 VIEW ON THE ALBUM

Some old photographs of people standing around a car in the 20's in front of the plantation. Another picture shows a child playing by the rubber trees near the plantation.

WILLARD (V.O.)
Was it like this sixty years ago?
Eighty years? But here, even eighty years is nothing.

He turns the page,

The plantation being built. Pictures of the framing, skeletal against the sky and jungle.

170 VIEW ON WILLARD

fascinated

WILLARD (V.O.)
It was jungle, once; and it will be jungle, again...

171 VIEW ON THE ALBUM

Only the very beginnings of the house; the first structures. Then another picture of the jungle site where it was to be built.

172 CLOSE VIEW ON WILLARD

He looks up and sees his own face, reflected in the garish mirror. He barely recognizes himself.

173 MED. VIEW

Willard looks at himself in the mirror, in this odd, out-of-time room.

174 INT. DINING ROOM GROUP - TRACKING SHOT

TRACK DOWN the long table, covered with delicious food.

The P.B.R. crew sits with others of the De Marais group. The table is headed by St. LeFevre. Chef's face lights up as he regards the wonderful European-style food.

CHEF
This food is wonderful ! I can't believe the chef is a slope.
(turning to Clean)
Some more?

Opposite the table, sitting next to the Chief, Lance reaches hungrily for bread and other food with his hands.

CHEF
(continuing) Hey -- Lance.

LANCE
Huh? Oh. Um, wouldya .. wouldya pass me the Rice-a-roni, please.

And then he looks to his friends for approval.

Our VIEW REVEALS that behind a transparent silk curtain there is another, more elaborate table, where the De Marais family is dining with Willard. Our VIEW MOVES through the curtain and settles in a MEDIUM VIEW of the group.

The men rise as a very attractive woman enters the room. Willard finally does as well, and she moves to the chair next to him.

GASTON
Roxanne, I hope you are feeling better.

ROXANNE
Je vais bien maintenant.

GASTON
May I present Captain Willard?
He is of a paratroop regiment.
You know the difference between a paratrooper and a regular soldier, don't you , my dear?

ROXANNE (smiling and taking Willard's hand)
Yes, they come from the sky.

She sits -- there's an uneasy silence.

Willard is caught with this exotic woman on one side of him, and the ongoing conversation on the other. He is forced to face toward Gaston, and drawn to look at Roxanne.

WILLARD
I would like to know more about the .. uh, plaque...

Philippe turns around, points to an elaborately scripted wooden plaque with various tallies on it.

GASTON

Attacks repulsed, as I was saying.

(hard)

This is only for this war, Captain.
Viet Cong -- 54; North Vietnamese regular forces -- 15; South Vietnamese -- 28 -- regular forces and otherwise.

(pause)

Americain -- 6. Of course, they were, perhaps, mistakes, Captain.

WILLARD

Of course. I -- Once we make our repairs, we could send word, we could have you evacuated from here.

GASTON

Captain?

WILLARD

You'll get blown outta here some day.

GASTON

We will never 'evacuate', Captain -- this is our home. Indochina is ours; it has been so for a hundred and twenty-one years, there is something to say for that.

WILLARD

The Vietnamese think it's theirs
-- I guess the Americans do, too.

GASTON

But we civilized it. A place belongs to those who bring light to it, don't you agree.

WILLARD

I always thought the French came here to get the rubber.

PHILIPPE

Excuse me, I must attend to my men.

He gets up, and leaves abruptly -- followed by his wife.

ROXANNE

May I ask where the Captain is going in his little boat?

WILLARD

We were going upriver when we got caught in a storm, ma'am.

GASTON

Upriver? Why upriver? There is nothing there, only jungle.

WILLARD
Do you know that jungle?

GASTON
When I was a boy, my father would take me there, to hunt. There are a few savages, but no man can live there, no white man.

WILLARD
What about an American named
Kurtz?

There is a pause.

GASTON
We have never heard of him.

Gaston rises, and takes Roxanne's hand.

GASTON
(continuing) Bon nuit, Roxanne -- bon nuit,
Captain.

Willard turns.

WILLARD
Good night.

Gaston leaves. Willard and Roxanne are left alone. The servants clear the table.

ROXANNE
You must realize, Captain -- we have lost much here -- I, my husband. Gaston -- his wife and son.

WILLARD
I'm sorry to hear that.

ROXANNE
(rising) Cognac?

WILLARD
I should be checking on the boat.

ROXANNE
The war will still be here tomorrow.

She walks out of the room.

WILLARD
(thinking)
I guess so.

He follows.

175 INT. SITTING ROOM - FULL SHOT - WILLARD AND ROXANNE

Roxanne sits, pouring a brandy, while Willard stands.

ROXANNE

Do you miss your home, Captain?
Have you someone there?

WILLARD

No. Not really.

I was discharged from the army four years ago. I went home, wasted some time, bought a Mustang Mach 1, drove it a week. Then I re-upped for another tour. No, everything I love is here.

ROXANNE

Then you are like us.

She reaches out to him; indicating that he sit.

ROXANNE

(continuing)

What will you do after the war?

WILLARD

I just follow my footsteps, one at a time, trying to answer the little questions and staying away from the big ones.

ROXANNE

What's a big question?

WILLARD

Kurtz.

(pause)

I know you've heard of him.

ROXANNE

Yes.

WILLARD

What did you hear?

ROXANNE

That strange things.. terrible things have occurred around this American, Kurtz.

WILLARD

What things?

ROXANNE

Gaston would never tell me. It was a subject not to be spoken of, Captain.

WILLARD

Yes.

ROXANNE

Did you know -- deeper in the jungle, upriver -- there are savages?

WILLARD

I know.

ROXANNE

But Captain, I mean -- cannibals.

A long pause. Then she looks at the cognac she poured for him.

ROXANNE

(continuing)

What a pity, you don't drink.
Since my husband died, there are so many things I must do alone.

She takes a sip.

Willard moves to the French doors, which have been left partly open to let a breeze in. He steps onto a terrace overlooking the river.

176 EXT. THE TERRACE - MED. VIEW - WILLARD - NIGHT

A machine gun emplacement is situated on the terrace covering the front of house, from the river.

ROXANNE

(from the sitting room)

Are you warm, Captain?

WILLARD

The river is beautiful.

In fact, we REALIZE that he is checking the boat.

177 WILLARD'S POV.

The P.B.R. is under guard by a couple of Gaston's Vietnamese.

176 MED. VIEW ON WILLARD, ROXANNE

She, thinking it romantic to talk about the river, comes up behind him.

ROXANNE

I spend hours watching that river from my bedroom window.
It fascinates me.

She moves her body close to his; and, in a moment, he is kissing her.

179 CLOSE ON WILLARD, ROXANNE

One eye steals another look at the P.B.R.

180 VIEW ON THE P.B.R.

Two of the guards leave -- two remain, getting ready for the long night.

181 VIEW ON WILLARD, ROXANNE - ON THE TERRACE

His hands wander over her body as she clings to him. Then she takes his hand, and leads him back into the sitting room, and up the stairs.

182 INT. ROXANNE'S ROOM - FULL VIEW

It is dark. She leads him into her room and closes the door. He stands there. In the center of the room is a large canopied bed with mosquito netting hanging down over it. The windows also have netting and barbed wire -- there is a .30 calibre machine gun mount in the far one. He look around. she goes over to the bed, and turns down the sheets. Then she slips out of her dress and stands there facing him.

He puts down his gun and strips off his shirt. She lays down on the bed and watches him.

ROXANNE

I have been lonely here, Captain.

He moves to her, slipping into the bed. M-16 is leaning against the wall in his reach.

FADE OUT.

183 EXT. ROXANNE'S TERRACE - NIGHT

We can VIEW into the room, as Willard has silently slipped out of her bed, and is a dark sinister figure kneeling in final preparations for going out in the night.

Without a sound, he comes out to the terrace, and scales down the wall of the old building, disappearing into the darkness.

184 EXT. THE DOCK - P.B.R. - NIGHT

Two Vietnamese guard the P.B.R. -- suddenly, feet first, the first disappears into the thicket.

185 CLOSE VIEW ON WILLARD

in the thicket; we realize he has just killed the man with a knife. Willard stalks the second guard and makes quick work of him with his knife. He even enjoys it. Silently, he drags the body out of sight.

186 MED. VIEW ON THE P.B.R.

The dark figure boards the boat silently. He disappears into the hold.

187 NEW VIEW

He lifts out several cases of supplies, working quickly, with a grace that indicates he is a man who has done his best work alone, and at night.

CUT TO.

188 INT. ROXANNE'S ROOM - CLOSE SHOT - WILLARD - MORNING

He sleeps soundly alone in the bed - we HEAR SOMEONE moving around in the room. He wakes suddenly -- PULL BACK TO REVEAL Roxanne combing her hair and buttoning up her blouse. She notices he is awake and smiles.

ROXANNE

I will fix you breakfast.

He starts to get up.

WILLARD

I'm afraid I won't have time -- I gotta --

ROXANNE

When you reach the boat you will find that half your fifty calibre stores -- a case of grenades, a mortar and two M-16's and a case of clips are being transferred to us by your order.

He stops -- seemingly stunned.

WILLARD

So that's it.

ROXANNE

You may think what you wish, Captain, but I like you very much.

She turns to go.

WILLARD

What if I say no.

ROXANNE

Then Philippe will have to kill all of you.

She leaves.

189 EXT. DOCK - FULL SHOT - WILLARD, OTHERS

He walks down onto the dock. Gaston's men are transferring ammunition boxes.

Gaston is standing with Philippe, who are covering the Chief and crew with M-16's.

GASTON

Two of my men deserted last night. It happens from time to time. I assume my daughter told you of our conditions.

WILLARD

Your daughter.

CHIEF

They taking half our ammo, Captain -- said it was your orders.

He pauses for a second.

WILLARD

That's right -- I did.

The Chief spits in the water disgustedly and starts the engines. Willard looks hard at Gaston.

WILLARD

I guess this is whAt men of war do -- eh?

GASTON

We endure, captain -- you can blow up the house and we will live in the cellar -- destroy that and we'll dig a hole in the jungle and sleep on it. Burn the forest and we'll hide in the swamp. all the while, we do but one thing -- clean the blood off our bayonets.

(pause)

Au revoir, Captain.

190 LONG SHOT - DOCK - P.B.R.

Willard climbs on board and it pulls away.

191 EXT. P.B.R. - MED. SHOT - WILLARD, CHIEF

The BOAT ROARS out across the river. The Chief looks over at Willard. They stare at each other for a moment.

CHIEF

Next time we get in a good fire fight -- I'd like to know how she was, Captain.

Willard just smiles at the Chief. he leans over and pulls up a floorboard -- the men stare in amezement; it contains the contents of all those ammo boxes. .50 calibre; clips; grenades.

CHEF
Holy shit.

CLEAN
What did you put in all those ammo boxes?

WILLARD
Rocks, sand -- those two men who deserted.

CHIEF
When'd you do it?

WILLARD
While you were sleeping.

He lets the board drop.

Willard moves to the back of the boat.

192 FULL SHOT - P.B.R. - RIVER , CREW

The river has narrowed and runs swifter -- the water dark and deep. The trees are higher in this area and much of the river is shaded on one side. There is no undergrowth, just the tall trees and ferns. They move ahead at half speed, alert, ready for anything.

WILLARD (V.O.)
We moved deeper and deeper into the jungle. It was very quiet there. It was like wandering on a prehistoric planet, an unknown world ... where the men thought they crawled to, I don't know.
For me, we crawled toward Kurtz -- exclusively.

Willard looks out ahead and points.

They all turn their guns in that direction. We PAN TO REVEAL a small village of huts along the bank.

193 FULL SHOT - DIFFERENT ANGLE - VILLAGE

194 POV. OF THE P.B.R.

They pass in front of the village which is rundown and completely deserted. The huts are on stilts to avoid the flooding of the river -- they are just skeletons of what they once were.

CHEF (O.S.)
Flood.

CHIEF (O.S.)
No -- most of 'em are still standing -- might've been disease.

WILLARD (O.S.)
I don't know -- there'd still be some sign -- it's just like the one this morning.

DISSOLVE TO :

195 POV BOAT - FULL SHOT - JUNGLE

The canopy of trees grows taller and stretches out across the river filtering the sun. The forest itself has grown darker and more twisted with ferns and creepers. Strange birds fly out of the trees as the boat passes -- a huge snake slips along an overhanging limb. The depth of the jungle is dark, ominous -- yet cool and strangely inviting.

196 FULL SHOT - BOAT - JUNGLE

Suddenly the river widens, the trees give way to marsh and as they emerge into the light a strange shadow falls upon the boat. It is the shadow cast by an enormous vertical tail section of a B-52 bomber thrusting out from the mud. Pieces of aluminum hang loosely from it, oxidizing in the sun. Creepers have already started to grow up around its heights -- the jungle is claiming it. But once under its shadow, they have passed a gateway. A gateway to paradise.

The river widens and the trees at its edge are soft and seductive. The hills beyond are purple and lush. Strange orange colored water-fowl swim lazily out of their way. The water itself is glass smooth and black as if there were no bottom. The sun is warm and the breeze gentle and laced with wild gardenias. It is indeed the most peaceful valley in all the world and each man looks upon it and has never known such a sense of peace and well-being.

Each man in his heart feels a need to stay -- his soul cries to stop -- stop their madness -- this spiral into hell.

Here is all that can be had of earth. But no hand moves. The boat drifts on its own toward a hole at the end of the clearing. A hole into the jungle from which a darkness permeates. The boat follows the river into this hole.

DISSOLVE TO :

197 FULL SHOT - P.B.R. - RIVER - DAWN

The skull looms in the f.g. -- the P.B.R. is pulled back about seventy yards -- Early morning mist still hangs on the water -- as it clears, we SEE another post and skulls on the opposite bank, It is strangely quiet.

-- All right, Lance --

Lance's TWIN FIFTIES split the silence as they POUR into the skulls on the opposite bank -- Suddenly there is a tremendous EXPLOSION and SECONDARY ONES from the jungle as shrapnel rips into the jungle and water from CLAYMORE MINES obviously set to cover the mound of skulls. The smoke clears.

LANCE
The other one --

WILLARD
No -- leave it --

CHIEF
Why -- Charlie put it there to kill --

WILLARD
Thta's not Charlie's work --

There is silence.

WILLARD
Whoever put'em there didn't do it to kill people -- They put 'em up as signs --

CHIEF Signs?

WILLARD
Yeah -- like keep out --

Willard motions -- the Chief accelerates -- they move ahead past the smoking mound.

198 EXT. THE RIVER - FOG - DAY

The P.B.R. pushed deeper into this mysterious area. Mist swells in and around the river, as the boat moves into an obscure fog. The Chief cuts the engine, and they coast.

WILLARD (V.O.)
Toward the night of the fifth day out of Do Lung Bridge, we judged ourselves about eight miles from Kurtz' base.
Everything was still, the trees, the creepers, even the brush seemed like it had been changed into some kind of stone. It was unnatural, like a trance. Not a sound could be heard. I began to think I was deaf -- then the fog came suddenly, and I was blind too.

The boat disappears in the thick fog.

199 MED. CLOSE ON WILLARD

We catch glimpses of him, even though we are close.

WILLARD
Listen.

CHIEF
What is it?

WILLARD
Listen.

They are silent. We can HEAR the most ominous SOUND COMING FROM THE BANKS. The GROANING, OR WAILING .. of HUNDREDS OF MEN.

CHIEF They're on the banks of the river.

200 VIEW ON LANCE

Frantically, he swings the twin fifties around.

LANCE Jesus !

201 VIEW ON CHIEF

We can barely SEE him -- in and out of the fog.

CHIEF
No, Lance. Not while you can't see.

202 VIEW ON WILLARD

listening. The SOUND IS TERRIBLE, HORRIFYING.

CHIEF
Will they attack?

WILLARD
If they have boats ... or canoes... they'd get lost in the fog. We can't move either -- we'll end up on the shore.

CHEF
God...

LANCE
Sounds like hundreds of them.

WILLARD
Shhhhhh.

The CHORUS OF GROANS in unbearable. But it is not a hostile chant; or a war chant, but rather the SOUND OF HUMAN ANGUISH.

WILLARD
(continuing)
It doesn't sound hostile -- it sounds like they've seen us coming and it sounds like -- I don't know, a funeral. I don't understand.

203 VIEW ON LANCE

A glimpse of him, almost in tears. We then SEE glimpses, fog moving, of all the men on the P.B.R.

DISSOLVE TO :

204 MED. VIEW - THE P.B.R.

MOVING THROUGH the thinning mist. The Navy craft proceeds cautiously.

WILLARD (V.O.)

Two hours after the fog lifted, we moved slowly to a spot we thought was roughly a mile and a half below Kurtz's camp. We approached a long sand-bank stretching down the middle of the river.

Which way? Right or left?

WILLARD

Who knows? Right.

CHIEF

Looks pretty shallow.

The P.B.R. moves toward the right-most channel. Chef takes a long pole and begins sounding depth.

205 VIEW ON WILLARD

The men are really tense now -- Lances swivels his gun from bank to bank. Chief keeps his fingers on an M-16. Willard takes out the TOP SECRET packet he received at Do Lung.
Tears it open. We MOVE IN ON him.

WILLARD

(reading)

Upon reaching objective. Target key personnel and commence operation. Should difficulty arise from which extraction is impossible, break radio silence
Com-Sec Command code Strong Arm -- indicate purgative air strike -- code -- Street Gang.

(pause)

Purgative air strike ! Purgative !
They'd kill me too !

Suddenly Chef lays out flat on the bow. Hundreds and hundreds of slender sticks fly onto the P.B.R.

rattling against the boat.

CHIEF

Shit ! Fucking arrows ! They're shooting fucking arrows at us.

206 CLOSE ON WILLARD

looking toward the banks.

207 WILLARD'S POV

Frag of men -- naked limbs, arms, breasts, glaring eyes entangled in the dense jungle gloom. And hundreds of pathetic wooden arrows flying out toward them.

208 VIEW ON THE P.B.R.

crazily zig-zagging up the river in the midst of the childish assault.

Steer her right.

209 VIEW ON THE P.B.R.

arrows hitting the deck. The men open up everything they've got. Lance is FIRING the two fifties wildly.

WILLARD

Keep going.. keep going.
They're just fucking sticks !
Chief, stay at the helm.

But Chief seems out of control -- he lets the clip of his M-16 go. Then slowly lets the rifle fall out of his hands, and falls to Willard's feet, a primitive spear having caught him right through the ribs. Willard looks down in horror.

210 VIEW ON CHIEF

laying at Willard's feet -- the long spear through him, bleeding onto Willard's boots. He looks up at Willard, about to say something.

CHIEF

A spear?

He dies.

211 MED. VIEW ON THE P.B.R.

The men are still crazily FIRING into the empty jungle long after those who attacked beat their retreat.

WILLARD

Stop it. Stop it !

Slowly he pulls his boots from under Chief. They are absolutely soaked in blood. He is stunned -- sits down and begins to unlace the bloody boots, and take them off.

LANCE Chief's dead.

Willard unlaces the other boot, and holds the bloody boot in his hand.

WILLARD (V.O.)
It was the strangest thing -- I don't know that I can explain it. Two of my men dead, and all I could think of was whether Kurtz was dead too. That's all
I wanted: to see Kurtz, to hear
Kurtz.

He starts to wipe the blood off the boot.

WILLARD (V.O.)
(continuing) Somehow, in the middle of this ... carnival, Kurtz had grown into something -- a gifted officer;
a great man.
Somehow, he was the only light in this hopeless, hopeless darkness.
And now I was too late -- he was probably gone, disappeared... by a grenade rolled into his tent -- or by some spear on the head.
Christ, I felt like howling like those animals in the fog.

212 EXT. THE BOAT AT MARINA DEL REY - NIGHT

The people at Charlie's cocktail party on the boat. Some flashbulbs are going off. Some people are dancing to the MUSIC. OUR VIEW MOVES SLOWLY TOWARD Willard, on the edge of the party.

WILLARD (V.O.)
Here they are in Los Angeles.
Everything is safe. There's a supermarket around the corner, the police station around the other. It would seem ridiculous to them that I was shot to hell because I had lost the privilege of listening to the mysterious Colonel Kurtz.
(pause)
Of course I was wrong. He was waiting for me. Kurtz was alive and he was waiting for me.

DISSOLVE TO :

213 EXT. THE RIVER - P.B.R. DAY

The P.B.R. moving up the river. The men are practically in a trance now, looking at the banks of the river. They don't even make an effort to touch their weapons.

214 WHAT THEY SEE

Hundreds and hundreds of Montagnard natives -- dressed in the most ornate and primitive manner: feathers, parts of birds and animals; cod-pieces -- all in body and face paint of the most savage nature. But there is a purity about them, men and boys, standing passively watching the small Navy craft flying the strange flag of red, white and blue.

215 VIEW ON THE P.B.R.

The men of the crew are not the same men who began this voyage. Their manner is lifeless as though in a trance. The various decorations and paraphenelia that they have picked up along the way seem oddly relevant to the savages that stand before them. The Chef has made a hat of birdfeathers; Lance's face has been painted with mud under the eyes to block the glare of the sun. He wears certain animal skins; trinkets; some animal teeth. Their uniforms have been torn and patched throughout the difficult journey. They start to move to their gun positions.

WILLARD

Just stand here with me where they can see us. Do nothing.

216 VIEW FROM BEHIND THE P.B.R.

MOVING SLOWLY TOWARD the fantastic human wall of feathers and war paint, standing on canoes across the river. The men on the crew stand in a group, their hands visibly without weapons. The natives standing across the river make no hostile gestures as they approach. They accept the small boat moving toward them with a sort of inevitability. The boat moves closer, approaches the wall of feathers -- which slowly and automatically gives away, in almost a ritual of birth, undulating, allowing the little boat to penetrate.

217 VIEW ON WILLARD

Mus on his face (to protect it from the sun), the palms of some jungle vegetation protecting his head, he looks something like a tribal chieftan himself. His intuition was right. He senses that they would be allowed to pass.

218 FULL VIEW ON THE RIVER

Hundreds of Montagnards who had been lining the river now run, absolutely silently, along the banks, keeping pace with the P.B.R. There is no hostility in these faces, only curiosity and a sort of grief.

219 VIEW ON WILLARD, THE CREW

They look up toward the bank.

220 THEIR POV

The temple at NU MUNG BA, a fortified encampment, built around the ruins of a former Cambodian civilization. Stone walls, barbed wire, cracked pyramids and rows and rows of Escher-like sandbags arranged in an endless maze around the fortress.

221 VIEW ON WILLARD

He picks up his field glasses and looks through.

222 WILLARD'S POV - THROUGH GLASSES

A sign entangled in the barbed wire -- its lettering strict and military:

FOURTH SPECIAL FORCES MISSION F-82
NU MUNG BA

The GLASSES POV MOVES REVEALING another sign written in a wild psychedelic hand.

OUR MOTTO: APOCALYPSE NOW !

The POV OF THE GLASSES MOVE once again and come upon an astonished sight, a black man dressed in a tatter of colored fabrics, feathers, and an Australian bush hat. He looks something like a multi-colored harlequin waving frantically to the P.B.R. The POV OF THE GLASSES MOVE OFF of him.

223 VIEW ON WILLARD

not believing what he's just seen.

224 THE GLASSES POV

Once again the young black man is now waving his Australian hat.

225 VIEW ON THE P.B.R.

Willard shouts out to the strange greeter.

WILLARD
We've been attacked.

AUSTRALIAN
(shouting back)

I know, I know, it's all right.
Come in this way. It's mined over there. This way. It's all right.

Willard look at Chef who is at the helm. He shrugs and they do as this man says. The P.B.R. moves towards the water's edge where there is a dock covered with concertina wire. The odd Australian stands waving his hat, guiding them safely in.

A thick greasy smoke hangs from fires that burn near the fort; fresh shell craters indicate a recent battle. Near the dock there is a tangled clump of corpses -- half submerged in the water. Other piles of bodies lie about, some of them on fire. Fire literally burns from out of the ground. Chef nods at the bodies.

CHEF
Charlie?

WILLARD
Looks that way.

CHEF
(looking at the Australian) Who's he?

WILLARD
God knows.

The boat pulls up. The Australian harlequin hops on board; the crew regards him with their dark faces splattered with mud and blood.

WILLARD
(continuing)
Who the hell are you?

AUSTRALIAN
Moonby. Got any Winstons?

WILLARD
Moonby what?

AUSTRALIAN
Moonby, 4th battalion, Royal Australian Regiment, Task Force.
Ex-Corporal Moonby, deserted.

WILLARD (incredulously, indicating the hundreds of natives)
What is this?

MOONBY
Oh, they're simple enough people.
It's good to see you, baby.
Nobody has any Winstons?

Chef automatically offers Moonby a Winston.

MOONBY
This boat's a mess.

WILLARD

Where's Kurtz? I want to talk to him.

MOONBY

Oh, you don't talk to Colonel Kurtz.

(he puffs, then smiles)

You listen to him. God, these are good. I kept these people off you, you know. It wasn't easy.

WILLARD

Why did they attack us?

MOONBY

Simple. They don't want him to go.

WILLARD

You're Australian?

MOONBY

Pre-Australian, actually. But I'd dig goin' to California. I'm California dreamin'.

WILLARD

(almost to himself)

So Kurtz is alive.

MOONBY

Kurtz. I tell you, that man has enlarged my mind.

He opens his arms wide, to indicate the breadth of his mind's expansion.

MOONBY

(continuing)

But lemme tell you, he is the most dangerous thing in every way that I've come on so far. He wanted to shoot me. The first thing he said is, 'I'm going to shoot you because you are a deserter.' I said I didn't desert from your army, I deserted from my army. He said, 'I'm going to shoot you just the same.'

WILLARD

Why didn't he shoot you?

MOONBY

I've asked myself that question. I said to myself, why didn't he shoot me? He didn't shoot me, because I had a stash like you wouldn't believe. I hid it in the jungle; the wealth of the Orient: Marijuana -- Hashish

-- Opium -- cocaine -- uncut
Heroin; the Gold of the Golden Triangle. and Acid -- I make Koolaid that makes purple Owsley come on like piss. Now I'm Kurtz' own Disciple -- I listen he talks. About everything !
Everything. I forgot there's such a thing as sleep. Everything.
Of love, too.

CHEF
Love?

MOONBY
Oh, no, not what you think...
Cosmic love. He made me see things -- things, you know.

The whole time Moonby is chattering on, Willard has picked up his field glasses and scans the fortress.

226 WILLARD'S POV - THROUGH THE FIELD GLASSES

Men in small groups, huddled over food.
Now he settles on the entrance in the temple. There are stakes in front, and on top of them are horrible shrunken heads.

227 BACK TO SCENE

WILLARD
Sounds like he's gone crazy.

MOONBY
No, Colonel Kurtz couldn't be crazy -- if you heard him talk, just last week, you'd never think he was crazy.

WILLARD
Is that where he is? By the shrunken heads.

MOONBY
Those heads, yes. Well, the rebels...

WILLARD (to his men)
We're going ashore. Tie her up -- and leave your guns up, Lance.

LANCE
What?

WILLARD
Bring your rifles, that's all.
(looking at Moonby)
Take us to him.

MOONBY
Right on -- he's been waiting for --

WILLARD
And shut up.

Moonby nods and shrugs, and hops off the P.B.R. willard and the men follow.

228 MOVING VIEW - WILLARD, MOONBY AND THE CREW

As they proceed closer to the fortress-temple, men appear where a moment before there was only jungle.

They are mostly Montagnards, but far more savage looking than any we've seen before. They wear only loinclothes and bandoliers of ammunition. their bodies are painted in strange patterns. They carry Army M-16's, Russian AK-47's and a wide variety of knives and clubs. Women emerge from the brush as well. they are armed and equally primitive looking. Interspersed among them are a few taller men with paler skins, with the remnants of Army insignia on them. The paint on their bodies is, if anything more bizarre. We CONTINUE TO MOVE ACROSS the entire group up to the stone gates of the fort, where thirty or so more are seen silhouetted against the sky. Willard and his men look up at people more primitive and more savage than any since the time of Captain Cook.

They encounter, in the center of the group, what once appears to have been an American. he is tall, gaunt, wears a flak jacket, but is otherwise naked, save a loincloth. His face is darkened from dirt, battle smoke, strange camouflage patterns. His hair and beard are long, matted with mud and grease. He carries an AK-47 decorated with scalps and human ears. Willard approaches this beast, who seems shy and retiring.

WILLARD
Who are you?

MOONBY
(breaking in)
His name is...

WILLARD
I'm not ever goin' to tell you to shut up again.

Moonby shuts up. The MAN tries to speak, but nothing comes out. He is dumbstruck at seeing them, as they are to see him.

MAN
Colby. Exec. officer, A-Team...
Special Forces. F-82 -- Col.
Walter Kurtz, commanding.

WILLARD
What happened here?

COLBY
What -- happened here.

Charlie?

COLBY
NVA regulars. They're coming again tonight. Tet -- their big -- assault.

Willard is the man in the middle -- he doesn't know what to say to this man, but he understands the forces that pounded him. He takes his arm.

229 REVERSE ON COLBY

looks at Willard, not understanding.

230 REVERSE ON WILLARD

Six months later, and he and Colby would be identical.

WILLARD
I'm taking you back.

Moonby slaps himself in the head with his hand.

MOONBY
Oh, no, don't say that.

COLBY
Take us back. Take us back !
But, the operation -- the team.
Colonel Kurtz has such plans for -- the team.

WILLARD
Take me to him, Major.

Colby starts, and then, seeing the shrunken heads on poles, he turns, agitated, to Willard:

COLBY
I had nothing to do with these operations -- I did not do the planning -- none of us did.
It was all Colonel Kurtz -- he was the genius. You'll see -- the genius of our Colonel. He should be made a General, don't you think? A General? It's...

Suddenly, frightened, he stops. Without looking Willard knows that Kurtz is standing behind him. He turns.

Kurtz has stepped out from his headquarters: He is a powerful man, though obviously very ill. He slowly attempts to pull the remnants of his uniform together, though it is ripped and bloodied, and now combined with primitive ornaments designating him a tribal chief, as well as his U.S.A. Colonel's insignia. He is feverish, with long blonde hair and beautiful features. His eyes almost hypnotize. His midsection is bandaged from what seems to be a serious wound.

232 VIEW ON WILLARD

This is not what he expected. He is quiet, and then, automatically, he comes to an attention.

WILLARD
Colonel Kurtz, I guess.

KURTZ
I'm Kurtz.

WILLARD
(he salutes)
Captain B.L. Willard reporting his presence, sir.

233 VIEW ON KURTZ

looking at him a long time. Then he returns the salute, and simply:

KURTZ
At ease...
(pause, as he regards him)
Sit down.

234 MED. VIEW

There is, of course, no chair or anything like a chair. But behind and around him, Kurtz's men begin to sit on the ground, cross-legged. Finally, Willard sits as well. Then Kurtz does.

Moonby lights a joint, and passes it respectfully to Kurtz -- throughout the scene, the joint is passed from man to man, ritualistically.

KURTZ
(slowly)
Why did you come to ... my province.

WILLARD
We were attacked -- down river.
We need supplies and medical help.

KURTZ
You were not coming here, to see me?

WILLARD (finding it more and more difficult to go on with this lie)
No -- no, sir.

KURTZ

You came up my river -- in that small boat. So simple. I always thought the final justice would come from the sky, like we did.

(pause)

You are the final justice, aren't you?

WILLARD

What do you mean, Colonel?

KURTZ

(gently)

What other reason could you have come? A Captain. Ranger. Paratrooper. Graduate of the Recondo School. Am I right about these things?

WILLARD

You know you're right.

There is a clear, incredible intelligence about this man.

KURTZ

Then the Agency approached you. Maybe in a bar in Quinon or Pleiku. Simple. A year's pay for one life. Perhaps a village elder, or a tax collector. Nobody's orders but your own. Exciting work.

235 CLOSE ON WILLARD

He remains silent.

236 CLOSE ON KURTZ

He smiles.

KURTZ

You've spent some at the Royal Tracking School of Malaysia. I can tell from the way the laces on your boots are tied. I understand you, Captain. We understand each other.

There is a long pause, as the two men regard each other. Then Willard reaches to his holstered .45 -- withdraws it, and places it on the dirt before Kurtz, as an act assuring Kurtz that he is not an assassin.

WILLARD

Do you know me?

KURTZ

Yes.

Kurtz reaches down; takes the .45 -- and without another word or gesture, shoots and kills a man.

KURTZ
(continuing)
Do you know me ?

He throws the .45 back on the dirt. Rises, and walks back into the cavernous headquarters behind the shrunken heads. Moonby scampers off after him, a respectful distance behind. Even Willard is stunned.

CHEF
Holy shit.

237 EXT. KURTZ'S OUTPOST - FULL VIEW - TWILIGHT

Dotted with campfires; Montagnard families -- it is like a primitive civilization.

238 VIEW BY THE TEMPLE WALL

Willard is alone by a campfire -- his M-16 leans by a wall next to him. He is exhausted.

Lance sleeps by the fire, a little distance away. Chef approaches, crouches down.

CHEF
Captain -- they've been probed all this week -- Cong and NVA regulars. There's gonna be a big offense any time.

WILLARD
I know.

Lance stirs; starts to wake up.

CHEF
What are we doing here?

WILLARD
Kurtz. I'm supposed to kill him, just like he said.

KURTZ
Yeah, I can see that. He's fuckin nuts --

WILLARD
Yeah.

CHEF
He killed that guy without feeling anything.

WILLARD
Not a thing.

CHEF
When you kill Cong, don't you feel something.

WILLARD

Sure.

(thinking)

Recoil... I feel the recoil of my rifle.

Willard rises. Chef looks at him, confused and frightened.

239 FULL SHOT - WALL - WILLARD, CHEF , LANCE

Willard walks along the top of a thick wall -- sandbagged and dug out every so often for an M-60 or a mortar emplacement.

Wild looking savages man these guns, and seem to bow to Willard as he passes.

WILLARD

This is good -- triple overlapping fields of fire -- walls so thick ordinary artillery just cleans the moss off their surfaces.

A woman tentatively moves to Willard, bowing, and then runs off to her bunker.

WE ARE TRACKING with them as they move past the groups of people, huddled by their fires... men, women and children. Skulls, shrunken and otherwise hang from every hut -- adorn every sandbagged bunker -- dried scalps hang from barbed wire. A child is chewing on a big piece of almost raw meat.

WILLARD

(continuing)

I've done things, when I was alone in the jungle -- that I never told anyone about.

They continue past amount where the shattered wreck of half a helicopter is laying. It has been altered and fortified with sandbags and concertina wire. The wreck lays on its side so that a 7.62 mini-gun that was mounted there sticks up above the sandbags. The emplacement is built on amound so the gun commands a clear field of fire into the jungle beyond.

Some Americans, barely recognizable because of their beards and savage manner, sit near the gun. Several Montagnard children giggle at their feet and play with bayonets.

CHEF

This is evil -- evil, Captain.
We're all gonna die here.

WILLARD

Yeah, I know.

CHEF

I don't get it -- You said your mission was to kill him. Let's do it, an' get our asses outta here. This Kurtz is ruining the war; I mean, this don't look good for America !

WILLARD
(lost in his thoughts)
... he's an amazing officer.

CHEF
You got to kill this sonuvabitch -- Lance and me, we don't understand none of this -- Jesus, Captain -- I don't wanna die here -- Do it quick.

Lance just stands there; his eyes vacant.. He sort of nods, sucking a joint.

WILLARD
Yeah. I know.

He thinks.

240 INT. KURTZ HEADQUARTERS - NIGHT

VIEW FROM INSIDE -- Willard approaches the stakes with the shrunken heads. Chef and Lance with him. Willard steps in -- Lance and the Chef crouch outside, waiting.

241 WILLARD'S VIEW

An austere stone savern in the temple: Kurtz's headquarters. Electric lights hanging in odd contrast to the ancient stone. We SEE what is left of the maps and other military charts -- they had been tacked up on big boards, but have now fallen into decayed disuse.

There are other indications of the modern headquarters this had been. Now all those things are no longer important. Kurtz sits alone, slumped back in a wicker chair. There is a large wooden planning table next to him, with maps, lamps and a pile of debris that is practically garbage. There are native decorations to ward off evil spirits; and graffiti on the stone walls, things ranging from "Viet Nam, love it or leave it" to quotes of Nietzsche "Nothing is true -- everything is permitted."

Moonby, who had been crouching in a corner, moves to Willard.

MOONBY
He's asleep -- don't bother him.

KURTZ
I'm awake.

Willard steps in closer. Kurtz looks to Moonby.

KURTZ
(continuing)
You. Get out.

Moonby hesitates -- not wanting to leave him alone with Willard.

KURTZ
(continuing; suddenly)
I said get the fuck out !
(to himself)
I'm going to kill the little weirdo myself tomorrow.
(he shows some pain when moving his midsection)
He's only stayed alive this long because he's a good orderly and medic. He knows how to use a hypodermic.

WILLARD
You're gonna get hit tonight, bad -- a whole regiment of NVA regulars.

KURTZ
That's right, the little gookpricks. But they are noble little gook-pricks, noble.
Because they fight with their guts, like animals. And for an idea ! That's rich. We fight with ingenious machines and fire, like Gods, and for nothing.
But I'll call in a major blotto airstrike tonight. We'll have ourselves a helluva airstrike tonight, a lightshow. How do you like The Doors': 'C'mon Baby Light My Fire...'

Willard shrugs.

KURTZ
(continuing)
Do you?

WILLARD
Yeah, I like it...

KURTZ
I love it.

He rests back, grinning.

WILLARD
You've gone crazy.

KURTZ
(angrily)
No. My thinking is clear.
(calmly)
But my soul has gone mad.

Suddenly Kurtz is seized with a terrible pain from his stomach wound. He groans horribly, clutching at it. He literally falls from his chair onto the dirt floor.

KURTZ
(continuing)
My gut -- Oh, Christ, my gut !

Willard leans over him; checking the seriousness of the wound.

242 EXT. THE HEADQUARTERS - NIGHT

Lance is crouching by the stone entrance -- Chef leans in, witnessing the proceedings inside.

CHEF
(muttering) Kill him -- come on, why don't you kill him

243 INT. THE HEADQUARTERS - MED, VIEW - KURTZ AND WILLARD - NIGHT

Willard examining the wound.

KURTZ
(in pain)
Oh shit -- on the table; morphine.

Willard moves to the table, opens the medical packet. He takes out a morphine capsule, leans over the writhing Kurtz and injects him with the drug.

KURTZ (continuing; looking up in pain)
You see how stupid it would have been to blow out my brains? I'm dying from the gut anyway.

Willard quickly prepares another shot. Kurtz, truly frightened, holds up his hand.

KURTZ
(continuing)
No -- I don't want to sleep.
I want to think. Water. Give me water.

WILLARD
You can't have water after morphine.

KURTZ
Still playing by the rules.
(almost affectionately)
You're a damn good kiler.

WILLARD (still holding the second morphine)
How's the pain?

KURTZ
How's yours?

WILLARD
I can handle it.

KURTZ Pain is easy to handle -- but nobility.. the nobility of a man is judged by how much Truth he can handle.

WILLARD
What Truth?

KURTZ
The truth that you were sent here to murder me, ans so far you haven't done it. And do you know why?
(looks at him)
Yes, you know why.
(he looks)
Your mission makes about as much sense as those idiots who sent you on it. Asshole ! Schmuck !
How long does it take you to figure out that nobody knows what they're doing here.
(coldly) Except me.

He rests back. The drug is beginning to take effect.

KURTZ
(continuing) Gimme water.

WILLARD
No water.

KURTZ
You know what you're doing?
You are interfering with my plans !

He crawls in pain toward the canteen Willard watches him impassively.

KURTZ
(continuing)
This water's got Moonby's acid in it --

He drinks sloppily from the canteen, water spilling all over. Then he throws the canteen to Willard.

KURTZ
(continuing) Drink it -- drink it for tonight.
Think of it. A whole regiment of those shitty little Cong -- War. Total war -- war like you've never known it. It's beautiful

-- you'll love it. Trust me.

244 EXT. THE HEADQUARTERS - MED. VIEW - LANCE AND CHEF - NIGHT

We can SEE into the headquarters: Kurtz offers the canteen to Willard. Chef is terrified -- Lance is stoned out.

CHEF

Lance -- the fucker's not gonna do it.

KURTZ

Goddamn -- You've gotta dig napalm on Speed, too. It's spectacular, you'll see.

Lance stands up holding his M-16, looks into the cavern with Chef.

245 INT. HEADQUARTERS - NIGHT

Willard stands there, holding the morphine needle in his hand.

KURTZ

Look into the jungle. You can't -- it's too terrible. You have to smear yourself with warpaint to look at it -- you have to be a cannibal.

(whispered)

That's why warpaint was invented. Then it becomes your jungle.

Willard shoots himself in the arm with the morphine.

WILLARD

How did we get here?

KURTZ

Because of all the things we do, the thing we do best -- is lie.

WILLARD

I think think a lie stinks.

KURTZ

Oh Captain, that is so true.

WILLARD

Stinks. I could never figure --

(he drinks from the canteen)

I could never figure how they can teach boys how to bomb villages with napalm -- and not let them write the word 'fuck' on their airplanes.

Willard drinks more of the LSD water.

KURTZ
(angrily)
You could never figure it because it doesn't make sense.

WILLARD
Fuck no.

KURTZ
I'll tell you what makes sense !
Air strikes ! White Phosphorus !
Napalm ! We'll bomb the shit out of them if they don't do what we want.

WILLARD
We'll exterminate the fuckers !

Chef steps into the Headquarters -- he is terrified.
He draws his bayonet.

CHEF
Captain -- kill him.

KURTZ
Think of it -- for years, millions of years, savages with pathetic painted faces were scared shitless that fire would rain down from the sky. And goddamn, we made it happen. God bless Dow !

CHEF Kill him !

Chef rushes at Kurtz with his bayonet -- instinctively, Willard GUNS him -- then there is additional automatic FIRE. Chef is being riddled by bullets.

246 VIEW ON LANCE

He has let loose with his M-16 at Chef, like some sort of mindless, programmed killer.

LANCE (FIRING) Hot damn !

Then hes tops -- Chef falls to the dirt -- there is an instant of silence, then:

247 EXT. OF THE TEMPLE AT NU MUNG BA - NIGHT

The DOORS begin LIGHT MY FIRE , loud and overwhelming, as illuminating flares light up the blackness.

248 MED. CLOSE VIEW of enormous loudspeakers protected behind spirals of razor-sharp concertina wire. LIGHT MY FIRE is blasted out to the enemy, poised to attack.

249 ANOTHER LOUDSPEAKER

Cannibal-painted men in savage decorations wait. Bayonets are fixed. Men are stoned to acid, injecting speed, sniffing cocaine, eating grass, smoking hashish in water pipes. One looks up to the sky.

250 EIS VIEW

A rocket illuminates the sky, strobing, as in a psychedelic hallucination.

251 VIEW ON THE SOLDIER

SOLDIER

Wow...

Another behind him is chanting the word NAPALM softly to himself.

252 MED. VIEW ON THE GATE

Willard strides out of the darkness, into the positions around the gate. He looks like a magnificent warrior -- Genghis. All the men: Montagnards, fierce Americans, even the savage men of the P.B.R. crew either bow, salute or kneel before Willard. The color pulsates around the edge of the image, red and green, mauve and purple.

We SEE Lance; waiting, with his weapons -- garlands of teeth around his neck, his face painted.

253 FULL VIEW - MONTAGE

Enemy ARTILLERY BLASTING away at the fortress.

254 CLOSE SHOT - A MORTAR

A hand drops a shell and it FIRES.

255 CLOSE SHOT - ROCKET LAUNCHER

It FIRES. EXPLOSIONS around the fort, red and orange and blue and green. They hit and grow, outward like some sort of cosmic flower.

256 CLOSE SHOT - A FLAME-THROWER (ON TANK)

Shoots out a stream of burning napalm that looks like a death ray gun, radiating outward with ice-blue energy.

257 SHOT ON LOUDSPEAKERS blasting out music.

258 MED. CLOSE VIEW ON YOUNG SOLDIERS

With the MUSIC, like those people you see listening to radios in their cars.

259 SHOT ON THE COMMAND BUNKER - WILLARD , KURTZ , OTHERS

(In SLOW MOTION) Shells WHISTLE in and EXPLODE on the walls in the compound. The men behind them are setting up rocket launcher (missile) . Everywhere metal and rock and flame fly and it is beautiful to see.

Willard looks through the infra-red sniper scope.

260 WILLARD - INFRA-RED POV

Strange, luminescent images of North Vietnamese approaching the outer perimeters. Thousands of them.

261 FULL SHOT ON KURTZ

KURTZ
Mini-gun. Colby. Sergeant.
Mini-gun.

262 MED. SHOT - MINI-GUN

A SERGEANT in feathered head-piece and wildly painted operates the mini-gun with several native helpers. SHELLS BURST around them. When they FIRE the SOUND is incredibly loud and steady like a high-pitched foghorn. A solid stream of molten lead seems to pour into the darkness as 7000 rounds a minute rip into the enemy. The pass of the lead reaches out in beautiful patterns as the Sergeant sweeps the area. The sergeant laughs maniacally as the GUN resumes FIRING, right up to the moment he is blown to eternity by an all-engulfing 105mm shell.

263 VIEW ON WILLARD

Exhilarated, and moving with the MUSIC.

WILLARD
Napalm.

Colby pushes a row of plungers: Advancing NVAs illuminated by napalm drums, phosphorescent napalm EXPLODES beautiful, like a magnificent firework.

264 VIEW ON KURTZ

KURTZ
Claymores, claymores.

The SOUND DISTORTED of tremendous HOWLING EXPLOSIONS penetrate the track of LIGHT MY FIRE one after another.

Kurtz's face is illuminated by each of these. His face seems to change from one grotesque primitive face to another, as though the whole history mankind is evolving in front of us.

The SCREAMS of maimed and dismembered men almost penetrates the INCREDIBLY LOUD MUSIC and we HEAR Kurtz's men LAUGHING and SCREAMING in delight.

Kurtz looks out over the field of slaughter.

265 FULL SHOT - NVA CHARGE

through wires and claymore glass, each wilder and more extreme. They burn in the pools of luminescent napalm but press relentlessly on. SHELL BURSTS overhead. They chant to themselves as they advance. NVA have reached the walls and throw down scaling ladders and start up. Suddenly the sky is bright with flares which produce weird psychedelic light. Blared out at tremendous volume over and above the DIN OF BATTLE is LIGHT MY FIRE.

266 FULL SHOT - WALL - EVERYBODY

The Americans and Montagnards stand up screaming. Spurred by MUSIC, they charge up. M-16's in both hands, blasting, kicking, bayoneting, gouging, splittin throats, biting necks, both sides collide in the utter and most horrible savagery.

267 MED. SHOT - WILLARD standing on the wall BLASTING as bodies fall around him; he thrusts his bayonet into one attacker, removes it with a foot and stabs another. From him he takes his AK47 and BLASTS more as they come.

268 MED. SHOT - LANCE

The VC rush his position. Willard trips a claymore that BLASTS most of them to shreds. More fill in. Lance opens up FULL AUTOMATIC . Willard and Lance move down to the nest wall, FIRING , bodies tumbling over.

Lance is caught in a CROSSFIRE and hit several times. He pulls himself up -- FIRES a final BURST and then falls under the enemy's feet.

269 VIEW ON MOONBY

sees this and scampers off into the jungle, muttering madly to himself.

270 MED. VIEW - WILLARD AT THE R.T.

shouting into the radio

WILLARD

Code -- Street Gang -- Street
Gang ! Purgative air strike; Street Gang !

He turns and runs back through the compound with the receding Montagnards. SHELLS are EXPLODING everywhere. The light patterns are fantastic. Men fall, Viets break over the walls and charge. They crouch and rip into them FULL AUTOMATIC. They break the charge and continue cutting their way through the NVA masses like torches through metal.

271 FULL SHOT - COMMAND POST - KURTZ

Kurtz watches as invaders swarm through his domain. Women and children rush upon him now. Kurtz flicks some switches and the whole north wall EXPLODES in overwhelming FIRE. The gates are uprooted. The stone lions tumble, crushing men below. Kurtz cocks an M-16 and walks off the bunker.

272 VIEW ON WILLARD

watching this spectacle.

273 MED. SHOT - DIFFERENT ANGLE - KURTZ

He rounds the shadow wall.

Kurtz sees a group of Viets and rushes up and prepares a machine gun mount. They don't see him. He braces the gun at his side and steps out.

KURTZ
(yelling) Charles !

They stagger and fall, shattered and bleeding, save one who's merely lost his weapon. Kurtz looks at him, his gun empty. He drops it and flips open the flap of his holster. The Viet soldier goes for his pistol. Kurtz beats him to the draw and blows him into the night. He moves over to pick up the NVA light machine gun. Holding it at his hip, he stands atop one of the ruined walls and FIRES into the masses. His native men see him and rush for the chance to die beside him. They are quickly encircled by onrushing Viets and are being overrun. The machine gun jams and Kurtz grabs a rifle. When it's empty and the bayonet is off he wields it as a club.

274 MED. SHOT - LOW ANGLE - KURTZ taking swings with his rifle, standing atop the wall and battering the oncoming enemy like Davy Crockett at the Alamo.

275 FULL VIEW - THE FORTRESS

The air strike hits with all its force. Balls and rain of fire sweeps down on the temple, the enemy, everything.

It is the biggest firework show in history.

The wall Kurtz was standing on, and he falls with it. Willard sees this and makes his way toward him as the air strike continues. All around us is a spectacle of MUSIC and light and fire and overwhelming color.

276 TRACKING SHOT ON WILLARD

following Kurtz's trail in the mud. He has crawled on all fours back into the jungle to die. He stalks Kurtz into the jungle ; moving around and cutting off the crawling Kurtz

KURTZ

Go away -- hide yourself.

WILLARD

What are you doing?

KURTZ

Going back - to the jungle to die.

WILLARD

I'm taking you back. You can still live.

KURTZ

I had immense plans.

WILLARD

I'm gonna get you out of here.

KURTZ

I was on threshold of great things.

Willard slings Kurtz's bleeding body around his neck, holding his hand, dragging him through the jungle. The spectacle continues in the b.g.

277 EXT. THE P.B.R. - THE RIVER

This wreck of a boat is still afloat. Willard crawls out of the jungle, carrying the dying Kurtz and manages to get him onto the boat.

278 EXTREME FULL SHOT

The spectacle of total psychedelic war: the fortress of Nu Mung Ba.

FADE OUT.

FADE IN.

279 EXT. THE TEMPLE - MORNING

The entire temple is devastation. Vultures by the hundreds circle overhead. There are a few survivors. Everywhere is smoke and heaps of bodies. Colby, a Sergeant, and some Montagnards sit near them.

Their eyes are red and glazed, their jaws hang slack and they tumble occasionally. They stagger away from the field of slaughter. Willard looks down and sees something. Moves over to it, kicks several bodies away and in the f.g. below is Lance, dead.

Colby stumbles over. Willard holds Lance up by his hair.

COLBY
Who is he?

WILLARD
He was the tragedy -- the tragedy of this war.

CUT TO:

280 THE P.B.R.

battered, moving slowly down the river.

281 TIGHTER VIEW

Colby is at helm. Kurtz lies feverish, delirious. Willard sits by him. As the boat moves, Montagnards, those left alive, come and pay their respects by the riverbanks. Colby takes an automatic weapon and FIRES it into the air. Some of the natives move in terror, frightened of him. The battle is not over.

KURTZ
Don't. Don't frighten them away.

Willard looks down at him.

WILLARD
So you understand this?

Kurtz looks up at him, past him with fury, longing in his eyes. There is a slight smile.

KURTZ
Do I not?

282 EXT. RIVER - MED. VIEW

The boat moves as though naturally carried by the river.

KURTZ
My river... my people... my jungle...
my ideas... my country...
my wife...
(he looks at Willard)
... my death.

WILLARD
You had immense plans... immense plans...

KURTZ

Yes...

WILLARD

I'm taking you back.

Kurtz looks up to him, then an expression of overwhelming intense and hopeless terror, hopeless despair. A whisper at some image, at some vision, he cries out twice, a cry that is no more than a breath.

KURTZ

The horror, the horror.

We HEAR the distant SOUND of HELICOPTERS approaching. The SOUND of ROTORS in the distance. They look up, craning their eyes at the sky. Colby points.

COLBY

There.

Over the jungle mountains the small formation of MEDEVAC helicopters hooping toward them.

COLBY

(continuing)

How did they know?

WILLARD

They must have seen the fire.

The helicopters are closer now but high up. Two of them breaking off, spiraling in TOWARD US.

COLBY

They're coming to rescue us.
They're Medevac.

283 CLOSE SHOT ON WILLARD

He stares up at the sky.

WILLARD

(to himself)

They're coming to take us back.

Copters directly overhead.

WILLARD

(continuing)

Yeah.

COLBY

Colonel Kurtz, he's dead.

WILLARD

Yeah.

He raises his M-16 and FIRES the entire clip at the approaching rescue helicopter.

284 FULL SHOT - THE COPTER

It frantically pours on the power and wheels up to the sky.

285 FULL SHOT - WILLARD, COLBY

WILLARD

Yeah.

Colby takes his rifle and joins Willard in FIRING at the retreating American helicopters.

286 HELICOPTER'S POV - ON THE BOAT

The men in the boat FIRING AT US as we fly further into the air, the boat getting smaller and smaller.

WILLARD (V.O.)

... Don't remember a lot about my rehabilitation... but I was sent back to the world before the fall of Saigon...

287 EXT. MARINA DEL RAY - EXTREME HIGH ANGLE - NIGHT

MOVING DOWN back to the pleasure boat at the Marina.

Pause. Willard is very silent.

WILLARD

I never answered questions about Kurtz -- I gave them a few of his unimportant papers -- but for the most part I saved everything. There were other letters, personal ones written earlier to his wife. I brought them to her. I watched the fall of Saigon on television in a bar in Alameda...

289 EXT. CALIFORNIA NEIGHBORHOOD - DAY

A bright clear day in a scrubbed-clean California neighborhood. Some kids are playing in the street.

Willard, years later, dressed as a civilian, proceeds past the lawn to the attractive home, carrying a packet under his arm. He passes a lanky, young teen-aged boy working on a motor-scooter. Willard looks at him. The boy looks back.

WILLARD

Hi.

Then the door opens, and KURTZ'S WIFE is standing at the door. She is still beautiful, blonde, and dressed in mourning even though she doesn't wear black. There is a sense of purity about her, though she is not young.

KURTZ'S WIFE
Come in, Captain Willard.

He enters.

289 INT. KURTZ'S HOME - DAY

Everything good and secure and desirable about America.
She stands in the center of the room, a little nervous.

KURTZ'S WIFE
Can I get anything for you?

There are pictures of Kurtz, not too many... but he is there in the various stages of his career.

Then she sits suddenly, and Willard sits by her.

KURTZ'S WIFE
(continuing)
Did you know him very well?

WILLARD
You get to know each other pretty well out there.

KURTZ'S WIFE
And you admired him?

WILLARD
He was a remarkable man. It was impossible not to --

KURTZ'S WIFE
Love him... Yes, it is true.
That's the hard part for me... I knew him better than anyone ... I knew him best.

WILLARD
You knew him best.

KURTZ'S WIFE
You were his friend... You must have been, if he had given you this...
(the packet)
If he sent you to his home. He was the best this country had -- he was --

WILLARD
Yes, I know...

KURTZ'S WIFE
I'll never get over it -- But I'll always remember him...

WILLARD
Both of us...

KURTZ'S WIFE

Men looked up to him...
(she loses herself in a thought)
He died as he lived...

WILLARD
His death was -- yes, he died as he lived.

KURTZ'S WIFE
Were you with him, when...

WILLARD
Yes I was... He said his last words to me.

Pause.

290 MED. CLOSE SHOT ON WILLARD

A little of the madness is still with him. He knows what she will ask.

KURTZ'S WIFE
What were they?

291 MED. CLOSE SHOT ON KURTZ'S WIFE

KURTZ'S WIFE
Tell me.

292 MED. CLOSE ON WILLARD

remembering that incredible day moving down the river.

Our VIEW LOOSENS

KURTZ'S WIFE
Tell me what he said.

KURTZ (V.O.)
The horror ! The horror !

WILLARD
He spoke of you, ma'am.

He sits there looking at her.

293 EXT. TIGHT HIGH ANGLE ON THE MARINA DEL REY BOAT

The cocktail party is breaking up. Willard is one of the few guests left.

We MOVE FROM Willard standing alone on the deck of the boat. Moving back through the departing guests. Charlie is getting ready to leave himself. We MOVE CLOSER to Willard.

DISSOLVE TO:

294 EXT. THE RIVER - P.B.R. - DAY

the boat floating down the river. Kurtz's body; an exhausted, half-dead Colby. And HOLDING Kurtz, Willard. We HEAR THE DOORS' "THE END" as we present the END TITLES.

FADE OUT.
